Work on Bellmar Projects

School Additions To Cost $705,000; New Gym Slated For High School

Work has started on two separate building projects in the Bellmarette school district, it was announced today.

One project will be an addition to the Bellmar High School building; the other will be an addition to the Marion Junior High building.

Robert VanBreman, supervising principal of the Bellmarette district, said that excavation has already been completed at the high school building.

"Heavy equipment to drill holes for the pillars is expected to arrive today," said VanBreman. "The contractor has promised to do as much work as possible on the building before the cold weather sets in."

The $475,000 high school addition will include a new gym, dressing room facilities, band rooms, faculty rooms, home economics room, science room and two classrooms. It will be a two-story brick construction.

VanBreman said the addition will be completed by Oct. 23, 1958. The work also includes converting the old school gym into a cafeteria.

Financed by State

According to VanBreman, the new gym will seat 1100 persons. He said the playing floor will be "sufficiently large."

VanBreman pointed out that both building projects are being financed through the State School Building Authority. That body determines the size and number of rooms in buildings so financed.

Excavation has also been completed for the $230,000 addition at Marion Junior High. Concrete footers will probably be poured in the next few days.

This addition is scheduled for completion by August 21 of next year.

The Junior High structure will include a new office, health suite, faculty room, library, cafeteria and four classrooms.

VanBreman said the school district plans to occupy the Junior High addition next school term. As much of the Senior High building as possible will also be used for the 1958-59 term.

VanBreman pointed out that the Bellmarette district will have excellent facilities once the two additions are completed.

American Chain & Cable Reports Sales Increase

Net sales of $87,354,344 for the nine-month period ending Sept. 30, as compared with $86,159,828 for the same period of 1956, were reported today by the board of directors of the American Chain & Cable Company, Inc.

Cyrus N. Johns, president and chief executive officer, noted that the increase in sales amounted to $1,194,516.

Cost of sales was up from $64,340,966 during the 1956 period to $65,077,439, a slight increase of $736,473. Net income dropped from $5,517,471 during 1956 to $5,266,450 for the nine-month period.

Earnings of $4.75 per share of common stock, computed on a total of 1,099,279 shares, are compared with $5.22 per share, computed on 1,057,000 shares in 1956. Earned surplus, ending Sept. 30 was $40,090,477 as against $38,360,569 in 1956.

Damages were slight when two cars collided on Reed Ave. between Fourth and Sixth streets yesterday, Monessen police reported today.

Drivers involved were Louella Schaum, 440 Monongahela St., North Charleroi, and Jack Peshok, 938 Knox Ave., Monessen.

Neither would assume responsibility, police said.

WINNING HALLOWEEN SCENE — This creative Halloween scene at Seymour's Jewelry won first place in the Window Art Contest sponsored by the Merchants Division of the Monessen Chamber of Commerce. The student artists who painted it were Phyllis Hrychak and Peggy Riva. In all, 42 prizes were awarded after judges looked over more than 120 windows.

Big Halloween Parade Starts Here at 7:30

Downtown Monessen will have all the atmosphere of a mardi gras tonight when young and old alike take part in the annual Halloween parade.

Chairman Edward Lhota and Parade Marshal Bill Peshok said the parade will begin moving promptly at 7:30 from the starting point at Third St. and Schoonmaker Ave.

The mummers, accompanied by colorfully decorated floats and six musical organizations, will strut their stuff down Schoonmaker to First St., down First to Donner, up Donner to 10th, up 10th to Schoonmaker and then to Third St. and Schoonmaker.

A number of judges will be at vantage points along the route to pick out winners in the competition for over $600 in prizes. The judges will be looking for the funniest, most comical and originally dressed mummers. The best floats and musical organizations will also be selected. Catherine Harris is chairman of the judges.

Firemen, who are asked to meet at the downtown fire station at 6:30 p.m. will supervise the show.

Floats have been entered by nine organizations: American Legion Thomas McKee Post 28, Veterans of Foreign Wars Allison-Lescanac Post 1190, Beta Sigma Phi, Rotary Club, District Improvement Council, Junior Women's Club, Monessen Cheerleaders, Monessen Movie Club and Lions Club.

Music will be provided by Monessen, Rostraver Twp. and Donora High School bands, Monessen Boys Brigade and Fayette City drum and bugle corps and Donora Scottish Kilt band.

The event is being sponsored by the Merchants Group of the Chamber of Commerce, Lions Club and Fire Departments.

Parking Ban Survey Among Local Merchants

A survey was being conducted among Monessen merchants today to determine whether they favored the parking ban on the north side of Donner Ave. between Fourth and Sixth Sts.

The survey is an outgrowth of a lively meeting held last night by the Merchants Division of the Chamber of Commerce.

Reportedly some opposition was expressed to the ban. This morning there were reports that petitions would be circulated objecting to the parking ban.

However a spokesman for the Merchants Division said a survey would be taken among all members before any possible petition is submitted to City Council.

If the survey reveals a majority of the members object to the ban, then Council may be asked to lift it.

The ban was imposed on a 90-day trial basis on Aug. 14 in an effort to speed traffic through downtown Monessen.

At last night's meeting, several merchants also indicated that they approved the ban.

Norman Henderson, chairman of the Merchants Division, presided at the meeting. He presented a television set on behalf of the group to George Cieply, executive manager of the Chamber of Commerce who resigned recently.

Earlier, the Chamber's Board of Directors presented Cieply with a movie projector and camera.

During the meeting, the merchants also completed plans for their Christmas promotion which will be built around the theme: "Put Christ back in Christmas."

1457 Free Chest X-rays Are Given

A total of 1,457 persons passed through the free chest x-ray mobile unit stationed in Monessen Monday through yesterday.

The Monessen Lions Club, headed by Paul Lucas, sponsored the free tests.

Window Art Contest Winners Are Announced

The two girls will share first prize money of $10.

They won top honors for their painting at Seymour's Jewelry.

In all, the judges today awarded 42 prizes to student artists. More than 120 windows were decorated this week as a preparation for tonight's Halloween parade.

The judging committee was headed by Ruth Hornbake.

The prize winners may pick up their money at the Chamber of Commerce office on Saturday afternoon.

Michelle Giannini won second place money of $5 for her painting at Friedland's. Third place, worth $4, went to Ellen Barton and Jean Plavetich, for their scene at Bianchi's. Fourth place winner was the painting at Check's by J. Castagnori and S. Salotti.

Other winners were:

Nation Warned Of Bogus 'Cures' For Asian Flu

WASHINGTON (UP)—The government warned today that bogus "cures" for Asian flu may be dumped on the market, and promised to prosecute those responsible.

The warning was issued as the government's rough count of flu cases since the Asian-type epidemic hit last summer soared to more than 3,500,000.

The Food & Drug Administration and the Federal Trade Commission said in simultaneous announcements that they will act against any drug manufacturer making "false and misleading claims" that their products can prevent or cure Asian flu.

Except for flu vaccine, the Food & Drug statement said, "there are no drugs available to prevent this disease."

"The public should be on guard against unwarranted claims for Asian flu medicines and should seek the advice of a physician for proper and safe means of prevention and treatment of the disease."

While some drugs can "relieve some of the discomforts of influenza," it said, the U.S. Public Health Service has found in years of research and laboratory tests that "inoculation with vaccine is the only reliable means of preventing influenza."

Merchants Put Christ Back into Christmas

The Merchants Division of the Monessen Chamber of Commerce announced today that its 1957 Christmas promotion will "emphasize the deep religious significance of the day."

"We want to do our share in putting Christ back into Christmas," said Rinard Woods, chairman of the holiday promotion.

In keeping with the religious theme, a large Nativity Scene will be erected in the block on Fifth St. between Railroad Alley and Donner Ave.

Life-size figures of the Baby Jesus, Mary, Joseph, The Three Wisemen and Shephards will feature the Nativity tableau.

To lend even more reality, live animals — including sheep — will graze the one-block area.

The Merchants plan a solemn program for the unveiling of the scene with a narrative of the Nativity. Appropriate Christmas carols will be woven into the program.

Each night, church groups will be invited to present programs from a stage which will be built nearby.

"We want to tell the true story of Christmas," said Woods. "The exact date for the unveiling of the scene will be announced later."

To further emphasize the religious aspect of Christmas, the merchants have decided that Santa Claus will have to return to the North Pole. The huge scene of Santa and his reindeers will not be hoisted over Donner Ave. this year.

Individual merchants have been asked to cooperate by going easy on "Santa Claus" scenes. Instead they are asked to emphasize that Christmas is really a religious holiday.

The merchants group plans to cooperate fully with the city's clergy in the Christmas promotion, Woods said.

One-way Traffic Reversed in Alley

The one-way traffic regulation for the alley between 11th and 12th streets in Monessen has been reversed, effective today.

Instead of the traffic going west through the alley, it will go east.

The change is being made to alleviate bottlenecks occurring because of the current Schoonmaker Ave. street improvement program, Chief of Police Michael Kuvinka announced today.

Campaign Notes—

Appeal for Colored Vote Here

An appeal for the colored vote in Monessen was made in campaign literature distributed yesterday by Republican mayoralty nominee John R. Stieska.

The literature asked "colored friends" to show their "racial pride" by voting straight Republican in Tuesday's general election. It also stated:

"The Republican party is 100 per cent behind you in the fight for school integration, voting rights and civil rights.

It further stated that the colored voters can show their "thanks and appreciation by voting straight Republican."

"Be an independent voter," the appeal stated. "You can pull the Republican lever even if you are registered Democratic. No one can know how you vote."

Stieska, a registered Democrat, began circulating the Republican appeal throughout the city yesterday.

Attacks Parente

Republican mayoralty nominee John R. Stieska yesterday sent literature to all registered voters in Monessen, Republican and Democratic, in which he attacked his opponent, Democratic incumbent Mayor Hugo J. Parente.

Stieska's literature contained many statements he had made previously in public and in print about his opponent.

He again called for the "end of the one-man rule in Monessen," by voting Parente "out of office."

He warned businessmen and friends to beware of smooth talk and Parente's so-called political influence. . . We need new leadership. Put people in office who will work for and promote Monessen first, last and always."

'Windup' Rally

A large crowd of party workers and leaders is expected at Zelmore's Auction Barn, Route 31, near Mt. Pleasant, tonight for a huge "campaign windup" rally sponsored by the Westmoreland County Democratic committee.

Pat McShane, chairman of the rally, announced that the entire slate of candidates will make brief remarks. State Sen. John H. Dent will head the group of state and county officials and office holders who will speak for the ticket. Joseph M. Loughran, unsuccessful primary judicial candidate, has also announced that he will speak.

Entertainment and refreshments will be featured during the course of the program, McShane announced. All interested persons are invited to attend.

'Straight Ticket'

At a Monessen Democratic rally last night at Northern Italian Political Association (NIPA) hall, Mayor Hugo J. Parente, who is seeking a fourth term, called for persons of "all extractions to vote

MISSILE BUSINESS—Gordon Gray (left), defense mobilization director, and Robert Cutler, national security affairs presidential aide, leave the White House following a meeting of top scientific, defense and atomic energy advisers. They conferred for 45 minutes with President Eisenhower on the stepped-up satellite and missile programs.

Ike Ready for New Crusade for Science

WASHINGTON (UP) — President Eisenhower is ready to launch a great new crusade to reawaken America to science.

If he follows the plan of his scientific advisers, this will mean mobilizing the entire nation — the federal government, states, local communities and the average citizen — to a new concentration on scientific learning and achievement.

Just how much the Chief Executive will reveal of the actual U.S. position in the science-weapons race with Russia apparently is still undecided. Vannevar Bush head of the World War II Government Science Office under which the atom bomb was developed, called Wednesday for a "real awakening" to the Russian challenge and said "the whole story hasn't been told."

The President himself demonstrated at his news conference Wednesday he was more concerned about Soviet scientific gains than at his meeting with reporters three weeks previously when he was not "one iota" jarred by Russia's earth satellite.

Ike Astonished

He said he was "a bit astonished" to find U.S. scientists with whom he has conferred since his previous news conference upset over "where we are going to be in 10 years" from now.

Eisenhower said the scientists wanted his support for a campaign to reawaken the nation to need of increased scientific endeavor. He said he will do their bidding "if it is feasible, because I believe exactly what they said."

While the President did not elaborate, the United Press learned that scientists who have talked to

Small Dwelling Is Destroyed by Fire in Lynnwood

An unoccupied frame-shingle one floor dwelling was almost completely destroyed by fire last night on McClintock Ave., Lynnwood.

Shortly before 7:30 neighbors sighted the fire burning brightly and turned in the alarm, which was answered by Washington Township, North Belle Vernon and Belle Vernon fire companies. When firemen arrived the building was ablaze, and they fought for one hour before extinguishing the flames.

North Belle Vernon Fire Chief Robert Whitelaw stated that the owner is now living in New York state, and an effort is being made to identify him.

The property damage was not estimated, but the interior of the three or four room house was gutted. It appeared to be used only for storage.

The origin of the fire could not be determined since it had gained considerable headway before firemen were summoned.

While the local companies remained on the scene, a truck was sent from Monessen to stand by at the North Belle Vernon fire hall in case of another alarm.

Word on New Job Awaited

LONDON (UP)—Reliable reports from Moscow said today it now is almost certain that Marshal Georgi Zhukov has been dropped from his Communist Party posts following his release as Soviet defense minister.

An official announcement from Moscow on this may be imminent, the reports said, or it could be delayed for up to several days.

But there was no indication thus far of Zhukov's new job, which Soviet Communist Party Boss Nikita Khrushchev said Tuesday would correspond to the famed soldier's "experience and qualifications."

According to the reliable reports, the Central Committee of the Communist Party, after lengthy debate, decided to drop Zhukov from the 15-member Presidium to which he had been elected only last July.

The Presidium is the executive body of the Central Committee of the Soviet Communist Party. Zhukov's ouster from the Presidium presumably would include loss of his Central Committee status.

Successor Not Named

There was no immediate mention of any successor to Zhukov in the Presidium post.

Moscow reports said the atmosphere there was "perfectly calm" today.

Khrushchev is expected to give a full explaination of the "Zhukov case" from the party's standpoint in a major speech before a special session of the Supreme Soviet next Wednesday, according to the reports.

This session originally was called as part of the huge ceremonies planned for the next day, Nov. 7, the 40th anniversary of the Bolshevik revolution.

Another Napoleon

Up until Wednesday night, censored press reports coming from Moscow quoted Western observers as saying that Soviet authorities presumably still were undecided on Zhukov's new assignment.

Earlier reports from Moscow said Zhukov was fired because Khrushchev feared he was trying to become another Napoleon Bonaparte.

A Moscow dispatch said western observers believed an announcement was imminent today on the future role decided by the Soviet leadership for Zhukov. Soviet press censors in Moscow were on the double alert, bolstering the belief.

Western diplomatic and Communist press sources in close touch with Moscow said Zhukov shortly would be accused publicly of "Bonapartism," something akin to the "personality cult" with which Khrushchev regarded the late Josef Stalin.

In essence, it means Khrushchev feared Zhukov as head of the army was growing more powerful than Khrushchev as head of the party, diplomats said.

The Red army resumed its re-

Local Lad Indicted On Burglary Charge

Harry Laatu, 18, Monessen, was indicted for burglary and three counts of larceny yesterday by a Washington County grand jury.

A companion, William Manor Jr., Elizabeth, was indicted on the same charges.

Laatu and Manor, according to the prosecution, took off on a hectic crime spree this summer. They are also wanted for additional charges in Westmoreland and Allegheny counties.

A third member of the gang has been turned over to juvenile authorities.

Tight Races Are Expected in Several Valley Communities

Political observers today predicted close election races for local offices in both Charleroi and Monongahela next Tuesday, but the Democrats were heavily favored to sweep all contests in Donora.

The most exciting campaign is shaping up in Charleroi where Burgess James W. McGuire will seek reelection as an independent.

McGuire was upset by Frank H. Cantoni, a school teacher, in the Democratic primary. Fred Miller, safety director at the Allenport plant of the Pittsburgh Steel Co., had no trouble winning the Republic nomination.

McGuire's decision to seek reelection with write-in votes will improve Miller's chances, political observers figure. A close three-way race is forecast.

Charleroi's four incumbent Democratic councilman also face tough opposition. The incumbents include Pete Celaschi, Pete Tihansky, Raymond Spahr and Robert C. Rickard.

Their Republican opponents will be Walter Behrendt, James R. Cahill, George O. Debolt and N. O. Hunter. Behrendt is a former councilman.

The Democratic nominees for school director are incumbents Frank Pucci and James Buchanan. The Republican candidates are George Humphries and Armand A. Balsano.

In the tax collector race, the incumbent, W. Ross Allen, Republican, faces a stiff challenge from Regis Carroll, Democrat.

Political observers feel that the Democrats hold a slight edge in most races, but few expect a clean sweep.

In Monongahela, voters traditionally split their tickets. And close races are anticipated again for every local office.

Attention will center on the council race with two to be elected. The Democratic candidates are William Pellegrini and incumbent Charles M. Brady. They will be opposed by William H. Watson and Lewis S. Warren.

One incumbent — Harry McCurdy — was defeated in the Democratic primary.

Two school directors are to be elected. The Democratic candidates are Michael Smith Jr. and Thomas E. Scurfield. Their GOP opponents are Carl S. Yohe Sr. and Charles Byers. Yohe is currently serving as a school director.

Another local contest in Monongahela will be for city controller. Willard A. Cox is the Democratic candidate; Roy A. Bowman

Says Industry Dispersal in U. S. Is Faulty

By ROBERT G. SHORTAL

NEW YORK (UP) — Hydrogen bombs dropped on Los Angeles, Calif., and Wichita, Kan., could wipe out a major part of the nation's aircraft and missile production plants.

Air attacks on Pittsburgh and Chicago could cripple 57 per cent of the nation's steelmaking facilities.

A hydrogen bomb on Detroit could deal a serious blow to the nation's vital machine tool industry and other key facilities.

"Despite all the talk about the diversification of industry," an industry spokesman said, "the U.S. today is in greater danger of being completely paralyzed by an enemy air attack than ever before in history."

Leonard C. Yaseen, head of Fantus Factory Locating Service, told the United Press that despite repeated warnings, "our defense industries today are as clustered in a few primary target areas as they were at the beginning of World War II."

Destruction Ability Greater

He said the only thing that has changed "is that the potential enemy is far more able to reach and destroy those target areas than he was at the time of Pearl Harbor."

Citing the lack of progress in dispersing industry, Yaseen said the same 32 metropolitan areas which accounted for 50 per cent of the nation's manufacturing output 20 years ago, still account for the same percentage of total output.

Yaseen said without government control over the location of new industries, companies naturally concentrate their facilities in areas favored by economic factors.

He said "a realistic and enforceable dispersion program must be put into effect immediately."

Yaseen said the National Security Resources Board, the Defense Department, the Commerce Department and the Office of Defense Mobilization all have emphasized the need for industrial dispersion since 1948.

No Headway Made

He also noted that two congressional committees have recommended prompt action along this line.

"Yet, in all this time, we have made no headway whatsoever," Yaseen said.

Citing the aircraft industry, Yaseen said at the start of World War II the Los Angeles industrial area accounted for 33 per cent of total U.S. employment in aircraft, airplane engines and parts.

"Today, aircraft manufacturers in the Los Angeles metropolitan area still represent 32.4 per cent of national employment in this country. Some 14 missile and pilotless aircraft plants are concentrated in this one area."

Yaseen said 55 per cent of all machine tool production is concentrated in seven cities—Cincinnati, Detroit, Cleveland, Springfield, Mass., Hartford, Conn., Providence, R.I., and Rockford, Ill.

Must Not Fool Selves

"It is particularly significant that Detroit, acknowledged to be a primary target for enemy attack, was allowed to advance its ranking in recent years from ninth to second place as a center of the vital machine tool industry," he added.

He said in view of the growing destructive power of nuclear weapons, the number of miles between installations must be increased.

"We must not fool ourselves," he emphasized, "into thinking that moving plants to the periphery of large cities would protect industry.

"One H-bomb would virtually destroy the lifelines of any central city, including its power, gas, transportation system and most personnel. With these lifelines gone, a plant on the periphery—regardless of distance from the central core of the city—would be paralyzed," he warned.

Erie Man to Head Chamber

HARRISBURG (UP)—G. Richard Fryling, Erie industrialist, is the new president of the Pennsylvania State Chamber of Commerce.

Fryling, president of the Erie Resistor Corp., was chosen at the close of the organization's annual meeting Wednesday. He succeeds W. F. Rockwell Jr., head of the Rockwell Manufacturing Co., of Pittsburgh.

A native of St. Marys, Fryling has been a director of the state chamber since 1945.

Penrose Hertzler, Pottsville attorney, and A. J. Sordoni Jr., president, Sordoni Construction Co., Forty Fort, were elected new vice presidents. Reelected vice presidents were H. B. Bartlett, vice president, Parish Pressed Steel Division of the Dana Corp., Reading; David H. Harshaw, president, John B. Stetson Co., Philadelphia, and Scott C. Rea, president, Rea and Derick, Inc., Northumberland.

the Republican nominee. The current controller, Clinton W. Griffith, is not seeking reelection.

In Donora, there will be few contests. And they aren't expected to be close.

Albert P. Delsandro, a steelworkers union official, is the Democratic candidate for burgess. He is expected to defeat the Republican nominee, John Marosovich, a former councilman and registered Democrat. Marosovich won the GOP nod with write-in votes in the primary.

Two council candidates have already won the nominations of both parties. They are former All-American football star Arnold Galiffa and Joseph Mouyard.

The two other Democratic nominees are Albert Pipik and John Duda Jr., both incumbents. Their Republican foes are Thomas Neill and John Murray.

Two school directors will be elected. Theodore R. Hickman is sure of one spot, having won both nominations. John Kosh, Democrat, and Robert Cowie, Republican, will seek the other.

The tax collector race will match Democrat George Kovalcik and Republican William C. Jones. Kovalcik, former Donora High School assistant football coach, surprised retiring burgess August Z. Chambon in the Democratic primary.

Two justices of the peace will also be elected. Democrats Thomas Petrus and Manual Campa are heavily favored to defeat Republicans Harry S. Ostrander and James W. Stewart.

the President have put the issue to him this way:

"The problem is well-known. The accelerated advance of the Russians is well known. We have to change some of our own attitudes. Not just the government but people in general. The next generation will have to work harder, become more competitive if the United States is going to hold the position it should have in the world."

Ike Can Do It

The scientists, who are now drawing up plans for the crusade, believe the President can "create the climate" for American science to get a powerful shot in the arm.

This official said there are many plans afoot to improve teaching of science, a vastly needed feature in any resurgence of scientific endeavor in America. He spoke of many ideas for beating the teacher shortage—TV, new books, special devices, more direct aid in the form of scholarships.

"But until the public feels it necessary, there will be no prestige—no steam—behind this movement. President Eisenhower can remedy this. The most important thing is to impress on people the need for action. Then we will find ways of doing things."

MOON MONEY — Dr. Morton Alperin, USAF director of scientific research and head of "Operation Farside," the Eniwetok project for sending a rocket to the moon, says in Los Angeles that if the "right people" make the decision, the Air Force can hit the moon with a rocket within a year. The "right people" are those who control the purse strings in Washington.

Webster Man Is Arrested Here

Robert Laughland, 42, Webster, is free on $500 bond today following his arrest yesterday for drunken driving and excessive speeding, Chief of Police Michael Kuvinka, Monessen, reported.

Laughland was arrested yesterday afternoon about 2:15 at Fifth St. and Donner Ave.

He was pronounced under the influence of intoxicating liquors by a local physician.

Buyers Market to Continue in Steel

NEW YORK (UP)—The outlook is for a continuance of the buyers' market in the steel industry, Iron Age predicted today.

It said only a national emergency "could radically alter this outlook."

The metalworking weekly said even some of the tighter steel items — heavy plate, structurals and oil country goods — are showing signs of easing.

The trade magazine said its prediction of a steady improvement in steel supplies in the months ahead is based on three factors:

—Mills still are adding new capacity.

—Uninterrupted steel production is assured for at least another year and a half under the long-term contract signed with the United Steel Workers Union in 1956.

—Steel users have no incentive to rebuild inventories so long as most products are in good supply at the mill level.

The publication said the auto companies—major consumers of steel—have given no signs that they plan to load up on steel and new cars in anticipation of a strike next year.

"Before committing themselves, they (the auto firms) want to get a good idea of what Walter Reuther (head of the United Auto Workers) will demand for his members. This means they will wait until after the auto union meets this winter and formulates its negotiating policy."

Iron Age said steel industry leaders are not discouraged by the outlook. It said they anticipate that production this year will hit 115 million tons—third best in history.

At the same time, Iron Age said "fast-breaking" developments in the missile-atomic field have resulted in plans for a new study of the nation's strategic stockpile program.

OBITUARIES

MRS. ANNIE CAMPBELL

Former Senator Herman Welker Dies

WASHINGTON (UP)—Former Sen. Herman Welker, 50, died Wednesday night of a brain ailment at the National Institutes of Health Clinical Center in suburban Maryland.

The Idaho Republican was admitted to the health center on Oct. 16 and underwent surgery to relieve pressure on his brain. On Tuesday he underwent surgery again.

hearsals in downtown Moscow Wednesday night for the 40th anniversary parade celebrating the Bolshevik Revolution Nov. 7.

They were the first held since Zhukov's dismissal was announced, indicating Khrushchev felt he had won a complete victory over Zhukov and did not fear repercussions from the army.

Communist press sources said the meeting of the 133-member party Central Committee which discussed the Zhukov ouster had ended.

There was no official confirmation of this by Western correspondents who are working under heavy censorship in Moscow.

The Italian Communist newspaper "L'unita" first used the word "Bonapartism" in a dispatch from Moscow attempting to explain Zhukov's sudden demotion. Then Western diplomatic sources in close touch with Moscow said the same thing.

Urges Closer Ties

Moscow Radio indicated some concern today that some Soviet soldiers had a closer allegiance to the army than the party.

It broadcast an article from "Red Star," the Red army publication, urging all unit commanders and political commissars in the army and navy to rally troops more closely around the party.

In Paris, the French Communist daily "Humanite" insisted that whatever the Soviet Communist Party had decided to do about Zhukov it had decided wisely.

London's Communist Daily Worker ignored the Zhukov affair completely today.

Five Years Are Asked for in Girard Case

MAEBASHI, Japan (UP)— The prosecution today called on the three-man Japanese court to sentence Army S3C William S. Girard to five years imprisonment at hard labor for the fatal shooting of Mrs. Naka Sakai.

The demand was made by Deputy Prosecutor Kakuichi Sugimoto in his lengthy final summation at the trial of the 22-year-old Ottawa, Ill., soldier.

Girard was charged with "causing bodily injury leading to death" in the Jan. 30 shooting of Mrs. Sakai on the U.S. Army's Camp Weir firing range.

Following the prosecution statement, Chief Judge Yuzo Kawachi adjourned the court until Nov. 5 when the defense will deliver its final summation. The three judges hearing the case then will begin deliberations on the verdict.

Sugimoto said the prosecution decided on asking for the five-year prison term after "consideration of the motive and the commitment of the crime and the circumstances." He could have asked for a sentence ranging from two to 15 years.

Sugimoto contended Girard deliberately "committed violence" when he shot Mrs. Sakai in the back with an expended cartridge from his grenade launcher. Girard has maintained he fired only to frighten the woman and other Japanese metalpickers away from the equipment he was guarding and that she was hit accidentally.

Nobel Physics Prize Awarded

STOCKHOLM (UP)—Two young Chinese-American scientists won the Nobel Prize for Physics today for momentous discoveries that upset some of the fundamental principles of physics. The Nobel Prize for chemistry was awarded to a Scottish-born Cambridge professor for basic cell research benefiting both chemistry and medicine.

Sir Alexander R. Todd, 50, Glasgow-born professor of organic chemistry at Cambridge, was awarded the $40,000 chemistry prize "for his work on nucleotides co-enzymes" during a 15-year study of the fundamental processes of life.

Senate Rackets Probers Eye Mennen Co. Policies

Labor Actions To Be Aired; Williams Absolved

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Senate Rackets Committee eyed labor policies of the Mennen Co. today, but its chief counsel absolved Michigan's Gov. G. Mennen (Soapy) Williams of any responsibility for them.

Counsel Robert F. Kennedy said the governor, a director and stockholder of the company, would not be called to testify at the committee's hearings "any more than we would call all the stockholders of Sears, Roebuck to testify."

"We have no reason to believe that Gov. Williams knew anything about—or had any part in—the operations," Kennedy said.

Wrote McClellan

Williams, who has been elected for five successive terms with heavy labor backing, wrote Chairman John J. McClellan (D-Ark.) just before the rackets committee started its current series of hearings. Williams said he had learned recently that the Mennen Co. had been "victimized" in its labor relations.

The governor's letter indicated the company was involved several years ago with a union controlled by racketeer Johnny Dio and then with the labor relations firm of Nathan W. Shefferman in dealings involving a plant at Morristown, N.J.

Activities of the Shefferman firm have been the thread connecting the various cases aired by the rackets committee in its hunt for improper activities by management in the labor relations field. Kennedy said that aspect of the Mennen Company's labor relations, rather than its relations with Dio's UAW-AFL Local 102, is of primary interest to the committee.

Allstate On Stand

The committee heard testimony Wednesday that Allstate Insurance Co., one of the nation's largest insurance firms and a subsidiary of Sears, Roebuck & Co., paid one of its agents $2,000 to help beat a union organizing drive.

Allstate vice president Henry S. Moser said Shefferman's firm paid the money to agent Jack Carreras of Flint, Mich., who set up a "vote no committee" with the help of a company lawyer and Shefferman employe Fred B. Wheeler.

The committee charged Allstate tried to conceal the payment. Wheeler testified he got two $1,000 checks from Shefferman's firm, deposited them, wrote a $2,000 check for cash and gave the money to Carreras. Allstate was charged for the $2,000 in an unitemized bill for expenses, Moser said.

The visiting-ban has been lifted at Monongahela Memorial Hospital, it was announced today.

Humphrey Returns to Washington Monday

WASHINGTON (UP)— Former Treasury Secretary George M. Humphrey returns to Washington Monday in a new role—a steel company executive in a Congressional witness chair.

The Senate Anti-Trust and Monopoly Subcommittee summoned Humphrey to testify in its investigation of steel prices. Humphrey became chairman of the board of directors of National Steel Co. of Pittsburgh, Pa., after leaving the cabinet last summer.

The subcommittee, which wound up hearings on new steel-making methods Wednesday, plans two days of testimony from Humphrey and other officials of National Steel.

Groner On Stand

The subcommittee's investigation of new ways to make steel ended with testimony from John V. Groner of New York, representing the McLouth Steel Corp. of Detroit, and Tadusz Sendzimir, president of a Waterbury, Conn. engineering firm.

Groner described McLouth's experience with a new top-blown oxygen steel process at its Michigan works. He said the process was "reasonably successful" and McLouth planned to install two new oxygen units when it expanded its plant.

Sendzimir described his firm's hot-rolled planetary mill process. He said it allowed big reductions in the amount of equipment needed for making strip and sheet steel and cut down on waste.

He said such mills have been built on a commercial scale in Canada, Italy and England but there are only three small planetary installations in the United States.

Asked if he thought the American steel industry was slow to adopt new techniques because its top managers were business executives rather than engineers, Senzimir said no.

He said American steel companies had to use "caution" in adopting new processes. What might be an acceptable risk for a small European steel company would put an American firm in jeopardy of a financial "catastrophe," he said.

PMA President Says Inflation Worst Enemy

WILKES-BARRE, Pa. (UP) — The president of the Pennsylvania Manufacturers Association said Wednesday night that runaway inflation can conquer the United States easier than invading military forces.

James F. Malone Jr., of Pittsburgh, told the 42nd annual dinner of the Luzerne County Manufacturers Association that inflation must be fought with "sincere unselfish efforts by the people, government, business and labor."

He said the government must take the lead in meeting the problem by curtailing its expenditures, but that their efforts must be backed by the other groups. He urged the present generation of young and middle-aged people to bear in mind that some day they will have to depend on the value of their savings.

T. Newell Wood of Wilkes-Barre, a Luzerne County Commissioner, charged that with somewhat lesser government intervention, Pennsylvania can become the most industrial state in the nation.

Driver Killed Near Elizabeth

MCKEESPORT, Pa. (UP) — George Bickell, 45, of 333 Crest St., Clairton, Allegheny County, died in McKeesport Hospital today about six hours after his automobile collided with a truck on Route 51 near Elizabeth.

Two women riding in the auto with Bickell were in serious condition at the hospital today. They were identified as Constance Charnicki, 80, and Mary Jane Nolder, 43, both of Clairton.

Meyer Handler, 42, of 208 Collingwood Ave., Fremont, Ohio, driver of the truck, escaped injury.

Police said Bickell's car was passing another auto when it collided with the oncoming truck.

Touring Russians Are Surprised by Football Player

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (UP) —Four touring Soviet embassy officers were surprised Wednesday to find that a Penn State football player could talk fluent Russian.

Tackle Joe Bohart, a 6-3, 215-pound business administration major from Tarentum, Allegheny County, caused the visitors to do a double-take when he asked them, in Russian, if they would like to speak in their native tongue.

Bohart explained he was studying the language at Penn State.

The tourists, who had their first close look at American football, also were taken back by the size of the first string tackle.

"How did you get so big?" they asked him. Bohart explained his shoulder pads made him appear larger than he is.

They then asked about the purpose of his equipment and how often the game was played.

The Russians, attached to the Soviet embassy in Washington, visited class rooms, fraternity houses, dormitories and athletic headquarters, and attended a student Halloween dance at night.

They will visit with Dr. Eric A. Walker, Penn State president, today and tour an art gallery and an experimental farm before moving on to Williamsport, Pa.

Man Indicted in Fatal Shooting Witnessed by Speers Police Chief

A Washington County grand jury yesterday indicted Orville O. Kittle, 35 year-old ex-convict from California, Pa., on a charge of murder.

The grand jury also indicted Kittle on charges of armed robbery, burglary and larceny.

He is accused of slaying his nephew, George Wayne Lesko of Cleveland, last Aug. 10 in California. The shooting was witnessed by Speers Police Chief Charles A. Hazlett.

Kittle is scheduled to go on trial in about two weeks. Earlier this month, he was denied a petition for a writ of habeas corpus which would have permitted him to leave Washington County Jail on bail.

According to charges presented yesterday, Kittle in rapid succession last August burglarized the upstairs of a Speers tavern in broad daylight, shot and killed his nephew, commandeered a police car and led police a four hour chase over area roads and was finally trapped in a roadblock between Carmichaels and Crucible.

Here is what happened on Aug. 10 according to the prosecution:

Tavern Burglarized

Hazlett, the Speers Borough officer, was telephoned at his home about 6:45 p. m. Aug. 10 by Mrs. Elsie Ziskind, whose family operates the Hollow Lodge tavern on Rt. 88 in Speers.

Mrs. Ziskind reported that the upstairs of the tavern had been burglarized and ransacked earlier in the afternoon.

Kittle, who supposedly had been seen in the area of the Lodge after the burglary, was named as a suspect. The constable began a hunt, taking Mrs. Ziskind along in his car. Later in California, they were joined by Mrs. Ziskind's son, Sherman, whom Hazlett deputized and armed with a blackjack.

After a search of back roads in the area, the officer drove to nearby Freddie's Inn, where he was told that the suspect's sister and the eventual shooting victim's mother occupied a house at the end of the driveway.

Hazlett and Sherman Ziskind approached the house and questioned the woman, now Mrs. Kay Barnett. An argument began and the two men walked back to the tavern.

Then Kittle, who owned a convertible auto, drove on the scene and was identified by the Ziskinds as the man they suspected of burglarizing the Lodge.

The police officer and Sherman Ziskind again returned to the house. When Kittle emerged, another argument began.

Hazlett said: "Kittle grabbed at Ziskind and while they were grappling I stepped in. Kittle grabbed my gun and jammed it in my ribs; then, when I tried to get it back, he cocked it and told me to stay away.

Kittle jumped into Lasko's car and tried to force his way out, but there were several other cars in the driveway and he couldn't make it. He got out and jumped into my car, ordered me to start the motor.

Shot in Chest

"At this point, Lasko came running up. He said, 'that's my uncle' and tried to get the gun away from Kittle. Kittle was in my car and kept pushing Lasko away. Finally Kittle pulled the car door shut and Lasko made a last grab. Kittle shot him in the chest."

In the midst of the eruption, Robert Elliott, California police chief, drove up at the tavern and leaped from his car. He fired a quick shot at the 200-pound-plus gunman before seeking cover with the remainder of the paralyzed group.

Kittle allegedly ran to the California police car, jumped in, and roared away. At 11 p. m., after a heated chase, Kittle was captured in a road block on Carmichaels-Crucible Rd. in Greene County.

Kittle was paroled from Moundsville state prison after serving a term for the 1949 kidnapping of two Weirton, W. Va., policemen. Kittle and two companions, picked up for questioning about a $5,000 holdup at the Fallansbee, W. Va. bank, overpowered the policemen, drove them to Hanoverton, Ohio, and left them handcuffed to a tree. Kittle was cleared of any connection with the bank holdup but was convicted of kidnaping.

The new armed robbery indictment covers Kittle's alleged snatching of Hazlett's gun; the burglary indictment stems from the Hollow Lodge looting; and the larceny count covers theft of the California police car.

California Quake

UKIAH, Calif. (UP)—A fairly strong earthquake jarred Mendocino and parts of Humboldt County Wednesday night. No damage was reported.

Man in Critical Condition from Shot

Louis Guman Jr. 28, Colonial 3, was in critical condition at Brownsville Hospital today suffering from a gunshot wound which was apparently self-inflicted.

James Eadie, chief Fayette County detective, said that Guman was found lying near the wharf in Brownsville on Tuesday afternoon by a boat crew. Eadie said the victim apparently shot himself in the head with a .22 caliber rifle which was found near his body.

The detective said a sales slip in the victim's pocket revealed that he had purchased the weapon earlier in the day.

A Danger We Face And the Alternative

DURING the campaign now nearing its close, this paper has tried to alert its readers who vote in Westmoreland County to a grave danger, the danger that their common pleas court may come under complete political control for the next ten years.

This is certain to happen if the three judicial nominees of the Democratic courthouse machine are elected next Tuesday.

Judge Bauer, seeking a second term, is well known as an intense partisan who plays politics the year around in defiance of judicial ethics. Judges of this type are a menace and he should not be reelected.

Judge Bauer's running mates are Judge Weiss, now serving by appointment, and District Attorney Sculco. Both have been weak political errand boys who, by their own admission, have waited in line and are being "promoted" by the political machine whose interests they serve without question.

With judges of this kind we are sure to have a court in which politics, not justice under the law, would be the guiding force.

But when the people vote against something, they also vote for something. And they are entitled to some assurance that they would be making an improvement.

The Independent is confident that the Republican candidates offer acceptable alternatives to the bossed Democratic candidates.

STANDING head and shoulders above the entire field is Avra N. Pershing Jr. We consider him one of the best qualified candidates ever to present himself to the voters of Westmoreland County.

Even his opponents recognize Mr. Pershing as one of the ablest lawyers in the county. He has had varied and successful courtroom experience in both civil and criminal cases. His professional conduct meets the highest ethical standards.

A fine athlete, he coached the Greensburg High School football team for several years, acquiring a good understanding of young people. He is a civic leader in Greensburg and is now serving as chairman of the County Planning Commission, appointed to that post, incidentally, by a Democratic board of commissioners. He is a veteran of World War II.

The people of Monessen have particular cause to vote for Mr. Pershing. For it was he who, as special prosecutor, investigated, tried and secured convictions in the disgusting vote fraud of 1953.

In that case Mr. Pershing displayed the legal skill, the courage and the temperament which would make him an outstanding judge. And by voting for him the decent people of Monessen can say in a very effective way what they think of cheating at the ballot box.

As citizens we often ask each other: Why don't more capable people run for public office? Well, here is a man who meets the highest standards anyone could pose for the office he seeks. His election would be a great contribution to better government.

THE OTHER TWO Republican candidates are less experienced. But they are men of good reputations, and conditions in Westmoreland County make their election desirable.

Robert H. Rial is already known to the voters. As the Republican candidate for district attorney in 1953 he came within a few hundred votes of defeating Mr. Sculco, who had the benefit of the cheating in Monessen.

Mr. Rial is 42. He has had good professional training and saw extensive combat service in World War II. He is a man of the highest ideals and a vigorous foe of machine politics. We do not hesitate to recommend him.

Willis E. Topper, the third Republican candidate, was nominated by a party convention for a vacancy caused by death. He is therefore the opposite number of Judge Weiss, who was picked by a Democrat party committee rather than by the voters.

Frankly, we had not thought of Mr. Topper as judicial material. But he was a brilliant student in college and law school, being a member of Phi Beta Kappa, the honorary scholastic society. He served for some years as an agent of the FBI, meeting its high standards of personal and professional probity. We believe he is to be preferred to any of the Democratic candidates.

MESSRS. Pershing, Rial and Topper have made a unique and meaningful pledge to the voters. They have promised to remove "all political influence" from the county court. And they have made a pledge in writing to refrain from active participation in partisan politics while serving as judges.

This is the central issue of the election. If the common pleas court is to be saved from becoming a political arm of the disreputable courthouse machine, the election of Mr. Pershing, Mr. Rial and Mr. Topper is a necessity. Otherwise, Westmoreland County faces a whole decade of justice by politics instead of by law.

GE Gained From Change On Satellite

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — The decision to switch our satellite from "Operation Orbiter" under the Army, Navy, and Air Force to "Operation Vanguard" under the Navy alone was made on the recommendation of the Stewart Committee of the Research and Development Board, of which Dr. Homer Stewart of California Institute of Technology is chairman. Also helping to influence the transfer, as a member of the Stewart Committee, was Richard Porter of General Electric, who now heads the Earth Satellite Panel of the International Geophysical group.

Mr. Pearson

These men, more than any other, transferred the satellite in 1955 at a time when it appeared to be making excellent progress. The transfer permitted Russia to score one of the most important scientific and psychological victories in history. It also contributed in part that the Army, which was transferred out of the picture, now has six satellites in a Huntsville, Ala., warehouse but is not permitted to launch them. Because of rigid administration censorship, it is extremely difficult to ascertain the reasons for the transfer and the subsequent snafu.

When Dr. Stewart was queried on the long distance telephone at Cal Tech he was uncommunicative.

"No Comment"

"I can't talk," he said.

"My instructions don't permit me to comment at all," he replied, when pressed further regarding the reasons for the disastrous transfer.

"You can't even comment as to whether you are chairman of the Stewart Committee?"

"No, I can't comment on whether I am chairman of the committe ," was the reply. "All I can say is that I've served on several committees."

This was leaning over backward a bit, because Dr. Stewart lists in his self-penned biography in Who's Who that he is a member of the Technical Evaluation Group of Guided Missiles Committee, Research and Development Board 1948-50; chairman since 1951."

Dr. Stewart has been privately criticized for selling the Pentagon on the satellite transfer because he was allegedly antagonistic to Dr. Fred Singer of the University of Maryland and Dr. Wernher Von Braun, the ex-Hitler scientists, now attached to the Army. They had been given the main job of designing Operation Orbiter and propelling it off the ground.

All Dr. Stewart would say, however, was: "My instructions don't permit me to comment."

Did GE Profit?

It happens that one private company benefited from the transfer — General Electric. It also happens that Richard Porter, an official of General Electric, simultaneously advising the government, advised the transfer which benefited his company.

GE has the contract for the first-stage engine for the Vanguard satellite. This is the engine which has delayed the program and in earlier tests couldn't get off the ground. Last week, however, it was successful.

When queried by this column, Mr. Porter admitted that he was a member of the Stewar Committee which recommended the transfer, and also of the Earth Satellite Panel, which likewise recommended the transfer.

When asked about the fact that his company, GE, benefited from the transfer, Porter replied:

"I don't know anything about the contract."

Checking with Porter's colleagues convinces me that he was telling the truth. He is a man of great integrity, and his associates state that when he discovered that General Electric was getting the new contract — as a result of the transfer he recommended — he was horrified and offered to resign.

As far as I can ascertain, no pecuniary interest or conflict of interest was involved.

Perhaps the mistake was just bad judgment. In view of the rigid wall of secrecy thrown up by the Eisenhower Administration, however, it's impossible to probe further. But the mistake was so important to the prestige of this country that a congressional committee with the power of subpena should pursue the matter further. The above is about as far as a mere newsman can go.

Facing the New Problems

By WALTER LIPPMANN

As this is written, there has been no news out of Moscow which explains the Zhukov affair. The action, which must have involved much planning and arranging, was carried out in perfect secrecy. Nobody got wind of it, not the foreign intelligence services, the diplomats, the newspapers, the Communist parties abroad. It is not probable that any of the satellite governments had any advance knowledge.

Mr. Lippmann

Since we do not know what has happened, or why it has happened, we can only guess, and not very confidently at that, about what it may mean. In the old days, a change in the top offices of the state usually meant a change in the policy of the Soviet government. Thus Molotov replaced Litvinov at the Foreign Office not long before World War II began with the signature of the Hitler-Stalin pact. After Stalin's death and the execution of Beria, there came a decided relaxation of the internal terror of the Soviet state. It is natural to wonder then whether this affair — which deprives Zhukov of his administrative control of the army — means that Khrushchev intends to follow a policy which Zhukov opposes.

It is conceivable and even possible that this is true. But to say this does not take us very far. For we do not really know what are Zhukov's policies in Eastern Europe and in the Middle East, and what are Khrushchev's. If we think of Zhukov as the traditional Russian soldier and Khrushchev as the successful politician on his way up, it is probable that the old soldier is more interested in holding on to the Russian strategic position in Eastern Europe, and that he is not willing to risk much to extend the Russian position in the Middle East. Khrushchev, conceivably, has the politician's intuition which tells him that Eastern Europe can be kept within the Russian military system only by accepting the national Communism of men like Tito and Gomulka. Moreover, Khrushchev may think that in the Middle East he may be able to win a great political victory — one dreamed of but never achieved by the Czars and by Stalin — of opening the Mediterranean to Russia.

All this, I hasten to say, is mere guesswork, with no hard fact to support it. It is another example, it may be, of our human propensity to insist on having an opinion when all that we are entitled to have is an open mind.

Review of Military Costs

The Zhukov affair has distracted from the Eisenhower-Macmillan meeting in Washington. I am afraid that this was not difficult to do in view of the fact that the only acknowledged news on the conference was a long communique, composed of all the old tired generalities strung together with a little bit more than the normal rhetorical elegance. These generalities, it seems, mean much to those who, being in the know, utter them but not very much to those who, being on the outside, read them.

However, on Sunday, Mr. Reston of the New York Times had a dispatch which really does throw light on what lies beneath the generalities. It is that if the NATO alliance is to keep up with the race of armaments, there will have to be "a major review of United States military expenditures and overseas commitments." Mr. Reston's report indicated, if I read it correctly, that what we have to decide at home and with our allies is this: if we are to keep ahead with the new weapons, we cannot also subsidize at their present level the military establishments of all our allies in the whole network of pacts with which we are involved.

U. S. Carries Burden

A great deal has been said about pooling and cooperation, and it is hardly arguable that in the field of basic science and technology, the more pooling and cooperation there is the better for all concerned. But this general idea, when it is applied to the race of armaments, contains within it certain political and military implications which may be very far reaching For when the scientists and engineers pool their knowledge and cooperate in the designing of the new weapons, like the big missiles with nuclear warheads, the crucial fact is that all, or almost all, of the hideously expensive devices are going to have to be financed and produced in the United States.

This means that we cannot also be expected to maintain conventional forces, or forces with tactical nuclear weapons, of decisive importance, and at the same time to subsidize balanced military establishments from Korea and Japan and Taiwan to Pakistan and Turkey and Western Europe. The inescapable corrolary of cooperation is a division of labor — an understanding, in short, as to what we are to attend to and what the other allies are to attend to.

It is impossible for the United States to recover the lead in the race of armaments without a very considerable increase of expenditures. This will necessitate not only more appropriations for the Defense Department but also a re-allocation of the military objectives of the Defense Department.

More Specialization

As Mr. Reston, whose sources are no doubt unimpeachable, indicates, we shall be moving towards a division of responsibilities within the alliance in which we specialize even more than we do now in strategic deterrents, calling upon our allies to assume the main responsibility for what are, by global standards, tactical defenses.

There will be much to talk about at the NATO meeting in December, and in the budget conferences here which are already under way. All this has been precipitated, one may say, by Sputnik, by the demonstration that, with our energies and resources dispersed all over the globe, we are losing the race of armaments.

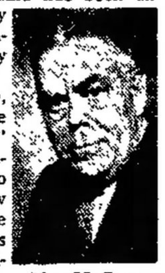
Gomulka Launches Big Purge of Opponents

By CHARLES M. McCANN

Wladyslaw Gomulka of Poland has launched one of the biggest purges in Communist Party history.

Ever since he was restored to leadership in the Polish revolt one year ago, Gomulka has been under attack by two strong, conflicting party groups.



Mr. McCann

On one side, there are the "Conservatives," the old-line Communists who want to follow the Moscow line of Josef Stalin's day. On the other side, are the "Revisionists," who want an even more radical departure from orthodox Communism than Gomulka has effected in his cautious pursuit of independence from Moscow.

Has Support For Purge

Now Gomulka has won the support of his Communist Party Central Committee, the ruling body, for a purge of both groups of enemies.

There are more than 1,300,000 members in the Polish Communist Party.

With the backing of the Central Committee, Gomulka intends to throw out from one-half to two-thirds of them, or up to nearly 700,000.

In the unusual divergence from orthodox Communist practice which has marked his leadership, Gomulka in addressing the Central Committee discussed frankly the weaknesses in both the Communist Party and Polish economy.

Gomulka said that the Communist Party had been unable to carry out its functions properly because of disunity, lack of discipline, confusion as to policy, and self-seeking.

To Keep Present Policies

He said that he will continue the present liberalized governmental policy. This includes the progressive liquidation of collective farms, to give farmers more freedom, and the introduction of more private trade instead of state-controlled trade.

The singular situation in which Communist Gomulka has the support of the Roman Catholic Church is still being emphasized.

On the day the Central Committee met the Warsaw publication "Universal Weekly," which is the organ of Stefan Cardinal Wyszynski, head of the Church in Poland, said:

"We must work for a reasonable compromise between party and nation. We shall engage our forces in an effort to see that the great national achievements of October (the revolt) are not wasted."

Importer Caters to Seekers of Unusual

By VIVIAN SANDE

NEW YORK (UP)—Got a yen for the unusual? Say an ivory toothbrush with its bristles tailored to your choppers?

A young New Yorker in a hurry has combed the markets of Europe and Asia to make available the brush, plus other items "never before seen in this country."

Seven months ago Elliott Glasser, a busy man of 26 with reddish blonde hair, set himself up as a company he calls "Panther International," to do a wholesale and mail order business in new or unusual products from abroad.

Backscratchers To Radios

A whirlwind 80-day trip to Europe and the Far East resulted in a collection of everything from backscratchers with springs to a Japanese transistor radio with pillow attachment.

Glasser, who got the name "Panther" from a restless character in Ernest Hemingway's "Snows of Kilimanjaro," sells his "discoveries" through 50 to 60 stores across the country. To get the toothbrush, a Chinese product, all you have to do is shell out $6, plus a copy of your biteline on a piece of paper.

He also distributes a telephone attachment that plays music to the person waiting at the other end of the line; another that tape records conversations; a mad money charm made of 15 - cent subway tokens framed in solid gold, with the token mounted so it can be removed in case of emergency; black star sapphires; cultured pearls; playing cards made like mahjong sets; shell place mats set in lead squares, and all manner of toys and underwater fishing equipment.

Can't Bypass Unusual

"I just can't pass up anything unusual," said Glasser. But he did turn down offers to import cement mixing machines and shrunken heads.

Glasser, born in New York and reared in Wichita, Kan., studied finance at Columbia University. He got his early business experience buying and selling precious and semi-precious stones for his father, and merchandising cosmetics and jewelry for a couple of New York retail stores.

In his office, a big loft - like place, Glasser also black - dyes about 100 thousand pearls a month —claiming "we're the only people who can." He manufactures fishing flies and can produce some 3,000 to 4,000 pieces of jewelry per day, including baby charms and novelty items for adults.

Glasser said he hopes his business will be of service to small firms, who don't want to and can't afford the time and money of shopping abroad.

Familiar Music in Children's Play

On Tuesday, Nov. 5, the Monessen Business and Professional Women's Club will bring the Pittsburgh Children's Theatre production of "Mozart, the Little Magician" to the Monessen High School auditorium.

This new play about one of the greatest composers was written especially for the Pittsburgh Children's Theatre by Margery Evernden, well known author of children's stories and three time winner of first prizes for national awards for play-writing. Miss Evernden is the writer of such popular plays for children as "Rumplestiltskin," "Robinhood," and "Young King Arthur."

Much research has gone into the production of Mozart and Donna Dawson has designed costumes like those actually worn by the Mozart family. The settings, designed and executed by Russell Stang, are authentic copies of the existing pictures of the Mozart home.

Musical Background

Since Mozart's music is of such importance to the play, the sound track has been recorded and re-recorded on special continuously running tape. George Youngling is the musical director, and three members of the Pittsburgh Symphony have recorded the clavichord, violin and organ music of Mozart as a boy.

Mrs. Olga Kernisky is chairman of the BPW play project and she has announced that tickets will be available in the schools for the morning and afternoon showings of this new play.

Local children will be thoroughly entertained by the professional cast as the members present the story of widely known cultural figure as a child.

Happy Phil Fumble Jumps Average

Ol' Phil Fumble is sitting on top of the world this week after jumping his total guesses for the season all the way to a .731 mark after last week's 11 right and only two wrong card for an overall record of 60 right and 22 wrong since the first week of the season. Before he falls off his high perch here goes with this week's choices: (By the way, one of the signals from the Sputnik revealed that Nessenom was sighted in outer space when Phil only sent him as far as India—he thought!) MONESSEN at Charleroi (surprise?); DONORA at Monongahela; TRINITY at Redstone; SOUTH UNION at Bellmar; Rostraver at CARMICHAELS; Waynesburg at CALIFORNIA; MAPLETOWN at Beth Joint; UNIONTOWN at Connellsville; PERRYOPOLIS at South Huntingdon; Pitcairn at WEST NEWTON; CLAIRTON at Turtle Creek; FAIRCHANCE at Georges; SCOTTDALE at Dunbar; ELLSWORTH at East Huntingdon; Dormont at WASHINGTON.

Charleroi High's Rab Currie, the well-known grid mentor there, is having difficulty securing the services of a "movie-taker" for Cougar games . . . It seems that whoever was taking care of that chore is no longer handling the filming of games and as a result Currie was unable to get movies of the Clairton tilt (which he wanted very much) . . . There is a fee attached to the Charleroi movie job and still no takers . . . A movie club like the top-notch organization here would be the answer . . . The local group relieves Armand Niccolai of all responsibility of filming the Greyhound games, taking care of filming, delivering to the process firm and making sure the ~~films return to Nick.~~

Ozarks May Revive Semi-pro Team

Sunday afternoon at 1 o'clock the local Ozarks Athletic Club will hold an important meeting in the Ravens AA club rooms on Donner Avenue when important matters like the possible sponsoring of a semi-pro football team here next season, the 1958 basketball tournament and club rooms activities will be discussed . . . President Anthony Mascetta of the Ozarks has also announced the appointment of Doc Destefano as the coach of the Ozarks cage team which will compete in the City Basketball League this year . . . The last time a pro football team was sponsored here under the Ravens banner is proved very popular with local fans . . . Bap Manzini, current Bellmar grid coach, piloted that Raven semi-pro squad.

Derry Township High School has announced it will play three football games in eight days in order to clear up all the postponements . . . This announcement immediately brought about a check of the WPIAL and PIAA rules to see if such an arrangement was permissible . . . Actually it is as there are no rules covering the number of football games in a specified period but there is such a rule in basketball which states "Not more than two games shall be played in one week with the exception in the case of postponements or tournament play . . . But in no case shall a team play more than three basketball games per week". . . . Three games are a lot of football in such a short time regardless of whether its permissible or not.

Grid Sport Runs Into Cage Season

Well, football has played around so long in getting its season completed that it has run smack dab into the basketball plans of most coaches . . . Under WPIAL rules cage practice is permissible Nov. 1, which happens to be this Friday . . . The first game is permitted on Nov. 29 but not before . . . Since most schools require a player to rest a week between sports some schools are going to really be hurting for their opener with games still being set for as late as Nov. 21 and 28 . . . Coach Dean Simpson's Carroll Township gridders in their first season of junior high football did right well for themselves . . . They ended the season Monday with a 0-0 tie with Scott Township . . . The Lancers didn't post a victory but held Glassport to a deadlock and dropped a tough one to Brownsville then lost two more with ace players sidelined for the season, especially star back Dale Diaz.

Cagers to Start Tomorrow

Two New Valley Coaches

Just how fast time flies was never more clearly brought out than the announcement today that basketball practice for WPIAL schools opens tomorrow.

Under the WPIAL rules no school is permitted to begin drills before tomorrow and no games can be scheduled before Nov. 29. With the many football postponements it appears the two seasons are going to run into each other headlong in a few weeks if the postponed grid tilts are not cancelled.

Two new coaches will tutor Mon Valley Conference (Section 5-A) teams this season with Tom Healey at Bellmar and Guy Bennett at Brownsville.

Otherwise the valley picture remains the same with Frank Janosik back at the helm here, Henry Pennline returning to Charleroi, Al Cree at Monongahela, Bill Watkins at California and the veteran Jerry Wunderlich in his 21st season at Donora.

The valley section will again be made up of Monessen, Charleroi, Bellmar, California, Monongahela, Brownsville and Donora with Charleroi the defending champion.

Elsewhere in the district Rostraver is in Section 10-A, West Newton in Section 17-A.

Mikan's Coaching Debut Spoiled in 115-96 Drubbing

By UNITED PRESS

George Mikan, who had many a night to remember in Minneapolis, has one today that he'd rather forget.

The National Basketball Association's one-time scoring wonder made his coaching debut before the home folks Wednesday night and suffered through 48 minutes as the Detroit Pistons routed his Lakers, 115-96. It was the second loss in a row for the Lakers, the only winless team in the circuit.

George Yardley pumped in six field goals in the first period to spark the Pistons to a 77-63 halftime lead and he wound up game high scorer with 28 points.

Six Lakers scored in double figures, topped by Dick Schnittker's 17 points, in the only action of the night. All clubs are idle tonight

Marshall Paces Hershey Bears

By UNITED PRESS

Willie Marshall's latest scoring outburst today sent the Hershey Bears soaring into a seven-point first-place lead in the American Hockey League.

The 25-year old center scored two goals and assisted on another as the Bears whipped the Cleveland Barons 4-1 Wednesday night to increase their season record to eight wins, one loss and one tie. Second-place Rochester has scoring departments with 11 goals, won five games and lost four.

Marshall now leads in all three 10 assists and 21 points.

Local Juniors Show Class in 27-6 Win

Brilliant passing and terrific running by the Monessen Junior High backs gave the locals a clean sweep of their 1957 schedule with a 27-6 win over Canonsburg here last night.

The game was only a few minutes old when Quarterback Tony Romasco found halfback Damon Reed with a 16-yard touchdown pass to climax a drive. Romasco carried for the extra point for a 7-0 lead.

A short while later Steve Bewszka, speedy Little 'Hound halfback, snagged a Canonsburg pass and carried to Monessen's 42, Romasco found end Tom Felgas with a pass to the 32 yard line of Canonsburg but a penalty a short while later slowed the locals.

The ball was resting on the 36-yard line of the Little Gunners when Reed took off on a brilliant 36 yard jaunt and Romasco tossed to end Ted Darby for the extra point and a quick 14-0 lead.

Bewszka, who has scored in every Monessen game to date decided not to be outdone and took off just before the half for 46 yards, thrilling the small crowd with his neat side-stepping to paydirt. DiaGiacomo carried for the extra point.

Reed Sets It Up

Coach Al Romasco's Little Greyhounds pushed over their final touchdown in the third quarter with Reed setting it up on a 38-yard dash to the Canonsburg 15. After a penalty set the locals back to the 45 Reed moved it to the 30.

Bewszka carried to the 16 from where DiaGiacomo went over in two tries, one to the 12 and another going for the score. The extra point attempt failed and a 27-0 lead was posted.

Romasco immediately substituted freely and Canonsburg hit paydirt when halfback Walter Reese went 50 yards for a touchdown and the almost forgotten art of drop-kicking was attempted by Quarterback Pat Ross but fell short.

A rather serious injury marred the contest when end John Mohler broke his ankle when forced out of bounds after intercepting a pass and running 65 yards to set up the Canonsburg score.

Unofficially first downs favored the locals 10-7.

Postponed games with Monongahela and Donora will probably not be played by the Romascomen which seems a shame in a year in which, barring upsets, they could post a clean slate, having already disposed of Brownsville and Charleroi in addition to Canonsburg.

Rostraver Junior High Gridders in 27-7 Triumph

Willie Ross paced the Rostraver Junior High eleven to an impressive "Parent's Night" 27-7 victory over South Huntingdon's Juniors at Rostraver Stadium last night

The speedy halfback scored two touchdowns and set up a third in leading his mates to victory.

Most of the fans had hardly gotten settled in their seats when Ross went over from 12 yards out to climax a 60 yard drive with Ray Ellen plunging for the extra point.

Later in the first period fullback Frank Peto went off tackle 12 yards for another score following a second Rostraver drive and Ross tackled on the point.

The 21-0 score was posted when Ross took a South Huntingdon punt and raced 50 yards to the opponents' six-yard line from where Quarterback Tom Newman sneaked over for the score and Ross addes the extra point.

92-Yards TD Run

Ross saved his most electrifying run until the third quarter when he carried another punt back 92 yards for a score getting two terrific blocks from Knutilla and Conn who stopped five players between them.

South Huntingdon scored with the Little Leopard subs in action when a drive found Tom Nohavicka going over from the five and Pat Ginglardi treating the crowd to a drop kick for the extra point.

First downs favored Rostraver 9-1.

The half-time ceremony featured the honoring of parents of the gridders, a performance by the high school band and the Leopardettes, girl's marching outfit. The program was directed by Mrs. Virginia Wood and Mrs. Marie Stewart, teachers in the Rostraver Junior High School.

John Polinchak Sets New Fabric Record

John Polinchak chalked up a sparkling 606 to set a new Fabric Bowling League record last night and also posted a neat 212 single game high.

Two wins for the 49ers over the Bears while the Rams and Steelers were shutting out the Eagles and Giants gave the former the first place slot in the league.

Other high scorers were N. Smerilli, D. Perry, F. Shaffer, S. Polinchak and J. Slebodnik.

Standings — 49ers 18-9, Steelers 16-11, Bears 15-12, Rams 12-15, Giants 11-16, Eagles 9-18.

Bellmar Host to S. Union

Coach Bap Manzini's Bellmar High Hurricane gridders host a rugged South Union eleven in a "Parent's Night" game at Bellmar Stadium tonight.

The 'Canes will be seeking their fourth win against three losses in facing the Unionmen, who are unbeaten. Bellmar has beaten Centerville, Penn Joint and Rostraver, losing to Perry, German and California.

Parents of the senior gridders and cheerleaders will be honored tonight including the "Moms and Dads" of gridders Reggie Kostelack, Bill Kubin, Ralph Greco, Ron Schmidt, Ken Strenske, Ken Waugaman and Andy Stefanik and cheerleaders Lou Ann Trozzo and Connie Ann Moskala.

A special half-time show has been planned featuring the honoring of the parents by the Bellmar High School band under the diection of Ed Rizzutio, who has replaced the late Ernie Dolfi.

Game time is 8 o'clock.

UP Writer Picks WPIAL Winners; Cougars Favored

By BURTON W. SIGLIN

Pennsylvania's schoolboy grid schedule should return to near normal this weekend with key games spotting all but a few of the state's major conferences.

Three of the five remaining contenders for the Class "AA" title of the WPIAL are slated to go against first rate teams while the opposition for the other two is less potent. The three teams running the major risk of elimination from the conference title race are Wilkinsburg which plays Jeannette, Baldwin facing Mt. Lebanon and New Kensington clashing with McKeesport.

In the East Penn Conference, unbeaten Cass Township faces its most rugged test against Lansford which lost for the first time last week when it was upset by Tamaqua.

Here is the way the picture looks this week:

Wilkinsburg over Jeannette — It should be close but Wilkinsburg figures to win it.

Mt. Lebanon over Baldwin — Going against the unbeaten on the theory Mt. Lebznon's opposition has been tougher.

Mt. Lebanon over Baldwin —Going against the unbeaten on the theory Mt. Lebanon's opposition has been tougher.

New Kensington over McKeesport — Unless McKeesport plays over its head.

Clairton over Turtle Creek — No worry here.

Uniontown over Connellsville — Or here either.

Also Charleroi over Monessen; Donora over Monongahela; Greensburg over Latrobe; Windber over Bedford; Aliquippa over Beaver Falls and New Castle over Butler.

The wife of President Rutherford B. Hayes was known as "Lemonade Lucy."

Coach Hopes Locals 'Perk Up' Before Tomorrow's Clash

Coach Armand Niccolai of the Monessen High Greyhounds remained worried today on the eve of the Charleroi game over the lack of spirit on the local squad.

"In all the years I have coached here this is the first team which showed no particular excitement or enthusiasm over playing Charleroi," the 'Hound coach complained.

While griping over the apparent lack of interest on the part of the team, Niccolai was rather satisfied with the physical condition of the team with only Ed Allen on the question-mark list.

Meanwhile, from the Charleroi camp comes word that the Cougars are in A-1 shape except for Quarterback Ron Cosner.

Payne Back at End

Coach Rab Currie has moved Ollie Payne back to end from his fullback slot he had held down for Clairton game when regular fullback Dan Reeves was injured.

Currie will start Ollie Payne and Timmy Lee, 6-1, 165, at ends; Keith Melenyzer, 190, 6-0, and Mike Kondratic 205, 5-11, at tackles; Fred Yuss, 185, 5-10 and Joe Arrigo, 175, 5-10 at guards; Art Mouyard, 175, 5-10 at center up front.

The backfield will show sophomore Gary Hogan subbing for Cosner. Hogan goes 170 and stands 5-10. Sophomor Paul Strelick will start at one halfback pairing with Bob Daugherty, 5-8, 170 at the other half in a surprise move. Strelick, 135, 5-7 will replace leading conference scorer Joe Uhlman but it is felt Uhlman will see action.

Reeves, 195, 5-11 is back at the fullback slot.

Yuss, at one of the guards is an All-Big Six choice from last season who had been sidelined until the Clairton game but rated praise from Coach Neil Brown of the Bears for his terrific play.

All in all the Cougars are raring to go against their arch-rival Greyhounds. Niccolai wishes he could say the same about the locals.

Lane Decisions Orlando Zulueta, Seeks Title Go

CHICAGO (UP)—Boxer Kenny Lane had two ways to go for a world championship today and his manager, canny Jack Kearns, planned to take him down whichever road might lead to a title first.

Lane, for sometime the No. 1 challenger for Joe Brown's lightweight crown, won recognition, in Illinois at least, as the No. 1 contender for the defunct junior welterweight title Wednesday night with a unanimous 10 round decision over the 8th ranked lightweight, Cuban Orlando Zulueta.

Lane scored his 49th win in 54 pro bouts and ran his winning streak to 16.

It was Zulueta's 30th loss in 105 bouts and his fourth defeat in his last five outings.

Daugherty's 247 Sets Grand Parlors Mark

A new single game high of 247 went into the Grand Parlors City Bowling League records last night as Charles Daugherty hit for that figure then added a 584 three-game total

Eight other bowlers had 500 series as George Curry, Harry Myers, Jame Salay, Steve Szabo, Skeetz Jones, Joe Koget and Joe Janotta hit the magic number. Bernie Singel also ran with a 496 record.

Standings — Cousins 17-4, Elks 13-8, Cro-Ams 10-11 and Aquarium 2-19.

Salay, Contine Post Open Hearth Best

Joe Salay's 227 and a 544 by Julius Contine had a 544 as the Weddell's, Balmers and Minardis edged the Maykovich, Van Marter and White House entries in Open Hearth League action last night

Steve Simon, Nick Cullen, Charles Bassey and John Kozar also showed high point totals

Standings — Weddell 19-8, Maykovich 17-10, Balmer 14-13, Minardi 12-15, White House 11-16 and Van Marter 8-19.

Steelers in Long Kicking Sessions; Await Colts Tilt

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Pittsburgh Steelers coach Buddy Parker was philosophical today about his team's dearth of place kickers.

"This situation will resolve itself. Look at those fellows working long after practice is over to try to perfect their kicking," he said.

However, Parker wasn't leaving it to chance. He spent good portions of Wednesday's two-hour drill putting prospective booters through their paces. Gary Glick, Jug Girard and Dean Derby were among those taking their shots at the uprights.

Parker's other worry for the game Sunday with the Baltimore Colts at Baltimore was to produce a line which can protect his passers.

"We have to stop that hard-charging line on pass plays or we're sunk. Our line looked good last week and should improve..."

The only questionable starter was end Elbie Nickel, who had to sit out the Philadelphia Eagles game last Sunday because of a sore arm.

Hamilton Offers No Comment On '58 Contract for 'Mike'

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Pitt Athletic director Tom Hamilton would not comment today on a report coach John Michelosen's contract will be renewed for 1958.

"All I can tell you was that the Pitt athletic committee did meet Wednesday but that it discussed only routine matters," Hamilton said.

Dr. Robert La Rue, head of the athletic committee, said, "I'm not saying there won't be some discussion of it, but not official discussion."

"I don't believe in bringing these things up in the middle of the season," he added.

Today, Michelosen faced the problem of picking a starting fullback for the Panthers' game with Syracuse at Pitt Stadium Saturday.

Two contenders were eligible for the assignment—Fred Riddle, with an average of 6.1 yards per carry, and Bob Stark, a stalwart defensive player with a 3.9 yards average.

If Riddle possessed Stark's defensive ability, or if Stark could run like Riddle, Michelosen's problem would be solved.

The Pitt coach, however, has been forced to use Stark defensively in the past two games and substitution rules have prevented him from inserting Riddle at times when he could do the most good. In the Army and Notre Dame games, Riddle carried the ball a total of only six times.

The University of Pittsburgh announced it will operate a free bus service Saturday to take fans to and from Pitt Stadium.

In a move to combat Pittsburgh's 18-day transit strike, the university will press 25 of its own buses into service for runs from downtown and Oakland to the stadium.

Promising Back Leaves Panthers

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Jimmy Cox, former Collingdale High, Delaware County, football star, has left the University of Pittsburgh and expects to enter West Chester State Teachers College.

Cox, a sophomore at Pitt, has not played varsity ball. He scored almost 400 points in two seasons at Collingdale.

Notre Dame Seen Five-Point Pick Over Navy Team

By FRANK LITSKY

A defensive battle between Iowa and Michigan and an offensive clash between Notre Dame and Navy highlight the college football program Saturday.

A capacity crowd of 101,001 is expected at Ann Arbor, Mich., for the "pick 'em" game between unbeaten Iowa, ranked third by the United Press Board of Coaches, and 12th-ranked Michigan. The game also will be televised nationally (by NBC).

Fifth-ranked Notre Dame, also unbeaten, is a five-point favorite over Navy, tied for 13th in the ratings, before 58,622 at South Bend, Ind.

Sooners Big Favorites

Oklahoma, still shaking from a near loss to Colorado last week, is a 30-point favorite over Kansas State.

The sixth-ranked Texas Aggies, who share the Southwest Conference lead with Texas, rate six points over potent Arkansas. Ohio State, tied with Iowa atop the Big Ten, is a 14-point choice over winless Northwestern. Improving Stanford is favored by one point over Oregon, the only team without a loss in Pacific Coast Conference play.

Iowa, Notre Dame, Oklahoma and Texas A. and M. are four of the six national powers still unbeaten and untied. Of the others, Auburn is favored by eight points over Florida and Dartmouth by by three over Yale.

In the only big games Friday night, Miami of Florida rates 15 points over Villanova and Boston University six over George Washington.

Other Contests

Intersectional—Rice over Clemson, Mississippi over Houston, College of Pacific over Marquette.

East—Army over Colgate, Pittsburgh over Syracuse, West Virginia over Penn State, Princeton over Brown, Cornell over Columbia, Pennsylvania over Harvard.

Midwest—Michigan State over Wisconsin, Minnesota over Indiana, Illinois over Purdue, Colorado over Missouri, Nebraska over Kansas, Cincinnati over Detroit.

Quarterback Problems Plague Both Nittany, West Virginia Coaches

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (UP)—Problems of lean and problems of plenty bothered Penn State and West Virginia today as they readied for their Saturday meeting here at Beaver Field.

Coach Rip Engle, down to two quarterbacks on his Nittany Lion squad, will have to bank heavily on the natural talents of a "green" sophomore.

Coach Art Lewis declared he will have to flip a coin to decide which of his two top-notch quarterbacks will start for the Mountaineers.

The role of starting quarterback for Penn State was thrust on 19-year-old Richie Lucas of Glassport, Pa. The Lions' regular field general, Al Jacks of Pittsburgh, may be out the rest of the season with a shoulder separation.

No injury problem simplified the selection for "Pappy" Lewis. The West Virginians have a choice of veteran Mickey Trimarki of Burgettstown, Pa., or junior Dick Longfellow of Spencer, W. Va. Each scored a touchdown last week to lead the Mountaineers to a 19-0 triumph over William & Mary.

Lucas took over as Penn State quarterback late in the first half at Syracuse last week when Jacks was injured. The "Kid" threw a 28-yard touchdown pass to help his teammates to a 20-12 win.

Engle called Lucas probably the most aggressive quarterback he has seen since coming to Penn State eight seasons ago.

"Richie is battling all the way," he said. "He has poise, is plenty cool and refuses to panic under pressure."

Late in last week's game, Lucas faded to his own 10 for a pass and found all his receivers covered. He began to leg it.

He did some beautiful broken field running to get past midfield," Engle said. "And he would have gone all the way if he hadn't collided with end Jack Farls who was downfield blocking him."

Even with Jacks ailing, the Mountaineers may be hurting even more. West Virginia's star guard Chuck Howley may be forced out of action because of a severe facial injury he received in a workout last Tuesday.

Rickshaw Drivers Put Yank Athletes to Shame

By OSCAR FRALEY

HONG KONG, (UP) — Weightlifter Paul Anderson needs vitamin shots, Emil Zapotek is a slue-footed softie, and the winning eight-oared Yale crew should have had to pay its way into the last Olympic Games.

Take it from Fearless Fraley here in Hong Kong, they build 'em stronger, faster and more seagoing—and it's all in a day's work.

On almost any of this city's winding colorful streets you can see guys who could spot Anderson three lifts and two jerks and saunter away with loads which would break his shoelaces. They simply swing a bamboo pole over one shoulder, dangle loads the size of Herman Hickman from each end, and plod along the crammed sidewalks without jostling children playing underfoot everywhere.

For the trackmen who festoon my winter Saturday nights in Madison Square Garden, they're going to have to do lots better in the future to get any applause from this corner. Old Fearless came up with a rickshaw boy today who could spot Gallant Man a fast furlong and run him into ground over the true derby distance of a mile and a half.

As a matter of fact, I clocked him the first mile in 4:01. And as we passed all the taxicabs in sight and zipped through Hong Kong traffic with the death-defying agility of a jackrabbit in a prairie fire, this kid didn't even draw a deep breath.

The speed and endurance of the rickshaw runners is absolutely fantastic. There are only 200 of them left in Hong Kong and they are primarily a tourist trap. This means you feel a bit on the silly side until you notice that the more economically-minded natives are riding them too.

After all, even if you feel silly the trip is only 60 cents an hour. But if these guys ever hear about the Olympics, it's doubtful if they'd ever bother to compete just for medals. They may run like eight-day clocks but to them 60 cents is a lot of rice in the dinner bowl.

They go big in Hong Kong for soccer followed by horse racing, rugby, cricket, golf and basketball. But the best athletes in the city—aside from the bamboo pole weightlifters and tireless rickshaw boys—are the women scullers.

Junior Legion Auxiliary Holds Election of Officers

Junior members of Belle Vernon American Legion Auxiliary to Post 659 elected new officers when they met on Friday evening in the club room of the Post home Past Junior chairman Dorothy Cefala was in charge of the opening and introduced the chairman for the new year, Frances Pennline.

Since all Juniors were masked the business meeting was conducted by the Senior Auxiliary members. Colors were advanced by Angeline Stancato. The group joined in singing the National Anthem with Ninfa Pennline as pianist, and also recited the pledge to the flag and the preamble. Prayer was offered by Mary Ferrari, unit president.

It was reported that the girls had completed their Christmas tag project and announcement made that the money must be turned in at the ext meeting. They will begin working on nut cups to be distributed at the Veterans Hospitals in Pittsburgh at Christmas time and will also make a gift for their mothers.

The meeting included the group singing of hymns. Scripture reading was by Mrs. W. S. Van Ryn and Dallas Winchell presented an organ selection. Democrats Big Favorites in Rostraver Twp. Election

Rostraver Twp. voters will elect a road supervisor, two school directors, a tax collector and auditor at next Tuesday's general election.

As usual, the Democratic candidates are heavily favored to win in all township contests. The GOP has failed to win an election in Rostraver in the past two decades.

However the Republicans have a full slate of candidates and they insist their cause is not hopeless.

Attention will center on the road supervisor and tax collector races.

Lloyd Markle is the GOP candidate for supervisor, while John Indof is the Democratic standard-bearer. Indof pulled somewhat of an upset in the primary by defeating the supposedly slated candidate, Harry Curran.

Incumbent J. J. Donley, long-time tax collector, will be challenged by Republican George Kuma.

The Democratic candidates for school director are incumbents Samuel Weightman and Peter Backstrom. They will be opposed by William Smith and S.L. (Bucky) Newmeyer.

The auditor race will show Mary Anderson on the Democratic side and James Patterson on the Republican side.

For the most part, the campaign in the township has been quiet up to this point.

Kuma has mailed literature to all township voters and is making as many personal visits as possible. Otherwise there has been little activity on either side.

A Novel Platform

BELLBROOK, Ohio (UP)— Ray Miller, 65, says he has only one plank in his platform for mayor in next Tuesday's election: "Don't vote for me." Well - meaning friends put the retired welder's name on the ballot but he says he would much rather take a long-delayed vacation to California than serve as mayor.

NATO, Turkish Forces Begin Maneuvers

By UNITED PRESS

NATO and Turkish forces began large scale and long-planned maneuvers today off the Turkish coast and just north of the Syrian frontier.

Both Russia and Syria warned in the past that Turkey must not use the maneuvers as an excuse to invade Syria but there was no outburst of Russian propaganda today.

There was some speculation the lack of Soviet protests might indicate a switch in policy as indicated by Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko's mild speech in the United Nations this week.

An Istanbul dispatch said land, sea and air units of NATO'S Southern European Forces launched operation "Red Epoch" along Turkey's southwestern shores with atomic capable ships and planes.

Turk Forces Exercise

Reliable Turkish sources said the Turks were holding parallel exercises near the Syrian border, including some maneuvers in the southeastern frontier area. The reports said troops, armor and air force units were involved.

Units of the powerful Sixth Fleet, including the guided missile cruiser Canberra, the carrier Franklin D. Roosevelt and the cruisers Albany and Salem were included in the NATO task force. NATO submarines from Malta also joined the exercise.

Aircraft from Britain's Royal Air Force will join Sixth Fleet planes in the maneuvers in which NATO land forces will carry out landing operations.

The lack of immediate reaction was reflected in the United Nations which shelved the Turco-Syrian crisis for 24 hours and turned to a discussion of disarmament.

U.N. to Debate Today

The Assembly had been scheduled to debate the Middle East situation this morning and western diplomats hoped to end the debate today with a declaration that most U.N. delegates felt Syria and Turkey should discuss the dispute with Dag Hammarskjold.

Some delegates saw this as a means of saving face for Syria following Nikita Khrushchev's statement in Moscow earlier this week that the crisis appeared to be over.

A possible clue lay in Washington where U.S. officials said they thought Russia appears to have overplayed its hand in the Middle East and alarmed Arab leaders. This was the Washington explanation for the sudden switch from Moscow sabre rattling to soft words of peace.

A Washington dispatch said it was considered possible Kremlin leaders may fix the blame on the Middle East "flop" on Marshal Georgi Zhukov.

Seek Increase In Milk Prices

ERIE, Pa (UP)—Northwestern Pennsylvania dairy farmers have requested an increase in the price of milk and elimination of seasonal pricing.

Representatives of the Dairymen's League and the Erie-Crawford Dairy Cooperative told the state Milk Control Commission Wednesday that last summer's drought intensified the hardships encountered by milk suppliers.

They asked commission members to boost the hundredweight price of milk from $6.30 to $6.70, an increase that would mean a one-cent hike in the retail price of milk per quart.

The dairymen asked for the increase to be made effective immediately and to continue to April 1, 1958. At that time, the farmers said, milk should be pegged at a price no lower than $6.50 per hundredweight.

The farmers also requested an end to seasonal pricing, the current practice throughout the state. Milk prices are raised in winter, when feed costs are high, and lowered in summer.

Two Questioned In Savage Attack On Two Persons

NEW ORLEANS (UP)—Police questioned two suspects today in connection with a savage attack on a minister and his secretary that resulted in the woman's death.

Arthur Anderson, 29, a brick mason from Lyndhurst, N.J., and Robert Barrow, of Gretna, La., were picked up Wednesday. Both had scratched faces and one had a razor blade in his possession.

They were the latest pickups in an intensive investigation of the kidnaping and robbery of the Rev. Martin Holls and Miss Maud Lind on Oct. 23. The minister and Miss Lind were severely beaten and slashed with a razor blade and the woman died of suffocation from a handkerchief stuffed into her throat.

Officers said Anderson had a razor blade when he was picked up and a pair of blue suede shoes were found in his room. The Rev. Holls had said the attacker wore that type of shoes and was "dark complexioned."

Police theorized that the attacker was scratched about the face in his struggles with Miss Lind. Anderson claimed to have been scratched in a barroom fight, they said, and Barrow said a cat clawed him.

The minister remained in the hospital today but bandages had been removed from his wounds. The attacker pistol whipped him and slashed his throat after forcing him to drive around for 45 minutes and later tying his hands with Mrs. Lind's stockings.

To Begin Work Early Next Year on New Trafford Plant

Westmoreland county commissioners and other district officials today received a detailed briefing by Westinghouse Electric Corp. executives concerning a new multi-million dollar power circuit breaker plant which the firm will construct in Trafford, beginning early next year.

Westinghouse officials from the firm's East Pittsburgh division arranged the luncheon-meeting which was held at the Penn Albert Hotel in Greensburg following the filing of contracts for the new structure this morning in the prothonotary's office.

J. W. Stirling, manager of the power circuit breaker department at the firm's East Pittsburgh plant, will head the new plant when it is completed. At today's meeting, Mr. Stirling said contracts for the new plant have been awarded to the Kaiser Engineers — a division of the Henry J. Kaiser Co. of Oakland, Calif.

"Ground - breaking ceremonies for our new power circuit breaker plant will be held upon completion of engineering studies early in 1958," Mr. Stirling reported. He said the new plant would be in full operation by late 1959.

The new plant will employ about 950 employes including about 800 hourly and 150 salaried personnel. The new facility will make Westinghouse one of the largest employers in Westmoreland County.

The manager of the new plant said the structure is being built as Westinghouse faces its biggest backlog of orders for switchgear equipment in its history.

"Customer demand for switchgear equipment has been growing steadily and it has been difficult to keep up with the demand, remain competitive, and at the same time, insure the future job security of our people without expanding our existing facilities," explained Stirling.

The Westinghouse official said that expansion of the power circuit breaker department in East Pittsburgh was prohibited by topographical conditions.

"Our backlog of orders and forecasts for the future of power circuit breaker apparatus confronted us with a serious problem. Our only solution, after careful examination and consideration, was to move a major portion of our switchgear activity out of East Pittsburgh."

The space currently being occupied by this department at East Pittsburgh will be fully utilized by expanding other switchgear departments.

The new Trafford plant will be a one-story structure with a total of 241,000 square feet of manufacturing space. The building will be 550 feet long, 420 feet wide and will be comprised of seven bays — one of which will be 60 feet high. The manufacturing aisles will be 60 feet wide. The new structure will house a cafeteria which will be installed for the convenience of employes.

★ UNEMPLOYMENT

Under our expanding economy and population growth figures, the averages of our economy have been as follows:

UNDER THE DEMOCRATS		UNDER THE GOP
Factory Employment	UP 21%	Factory Employment	DOWN 20%
Industrial Production	UP 35%	Industrial Production	DOWN 24%

Ask the Railroaders, Steel Workers, Glass Workers, Coal Miners and Other Production Workers About Their Prosperity, About Their Lay-offs, Their Unemployment (Shades of Hoover).

THESE ARE THE REAL ISSUES OF THE CAMPAIGN
THESE ARE THE DEMOCRATIC ISSUES AFFECTING THE DAILY LIVES OF ALL THE PEOPLE

The GOP issues are best contained in Republican State Chairman George Bloom's speech —quote—"Elect three Republican Judges and a District Attorney in Westmoreland County and the County will fall into the Republican column in the State."

DOES THIS SOUND LIKE THE REPUBLICAN CANDIDATES FOR JUDGE ARE GOING TO BE NON-PARTISAN — ESPECIALLY SINCE ONE OF THEIR CANDIDATES IS A FORMER REPUBLICAN COUNTY CHAIRMAN?

Their Interest Is Republican Partisanship Control of Public Office With No Interest in Public Welfare

State's New License Suspension Program Is Big Safety Feature

(This is one of a series of dispatches on traffic fatalities and accidents in Pennsylvania written for the United Press by O. D Shipley, director of the Bureau of State Highway Safety. It deals with what is being done by the state government to improve the situation)

By O. D. SHIPLEY

HARRISBURG (UP) — Among the forward-looking, far-reaching steps taken by the state in launching a "new-look" type program promoting greater traffic safety in Pennsylvania has been adoption of a new system for the suspension of driver licenses and organization of the Governor's Traffic Safety Council.

Both are meeting specific needs in the fight against traffic accidents.

The new suspension system is meting out just suspensions for violations of the Motor Vehicle Code and is well on its way in helping rid our highways of the habitual chronic law-breaker The Governor's Traffic Safety Council is carrying out an aggressive educational campaign which is also saving lives in Pennsylvania

The State has abolished the antiquated, obsolete method of license suspension of the mid-thirties under which an arbitrary 90-day suspension for speeding was handed out A new fair, impartial and practical system was inaugurated in February, 1956, providing for a warning or short suspension for a first offender, depending on the seriousness of the violation and dealing more harshly with the habitual offender

Has Proven Itself

Since the new system has been in operation it has proved itself to be effective, and will become even more effective as it is continued with drivers developing their own record. That the new method is fair can be seen in a general drop in the number of appeals taken by motorists

Aimed at the repeater, the individual who habitually violates the law and who is the real problem in enforcing the Motor Vehicle Code, the new system is going to be two-fister and tough—a step in the right direction in removing the lunatic fringe"—the menace to traffic safety which is causing most of our trouble Our experience shows that approximately 10 to 15 per cent of our drivers are causing 90 per cent of the accidents, and it is this segment we would like to eliminate

"Issued and abused under the former system, the restricted license has been abolished. Fairness of the method of graduated penalties now in force under which the law-abiding motorist who commits an unintentional violation receives a warning or short suspension eliminates any necessity for a restricted license, the habitual, irresponsible driver certainly deserves no such consideration—and under our tougher policy receives none.

Everybody — but everybody — serves his suspension under the present system

Records Kept

It should perhaps be stressed that under the present system, the driver builds up his own record A record of all violations will be counted for penalties within a three - year period, and should these violations bring even only a warning they become part of the driver's permanent record and count toward license suspension should other violations occur

Strict and impartial enforcement under this system—perhaps the fairest of any system in the United States — will eventually remove from our highways those drivers who repeatedly demonstrate they are unfit to operate a vehicle on the roads of this Commonwealth

Organized only last December, the Governor's Traffic Safety Council, a non-partisan group of leading citizens interested in the problem, is making an all-out effort to take the problem of traffic accidents to the people

Quick to meet the challenge this safety minded group endorsed a 12-point program making recommendations to the 1957 session of the Pennsylvania Legislature designed to better traffic safety conditions in the State Seven parts of this program was approved by the Legislature among which was legislation requiring reports on admission of patients to institutions suffering mental illness which could render an individual unsafe to drive

Laws Need Tightening

The latter points up a need for tightening of our driver licensing laws and periodic re-examination of drivers to rid our highways of these and other potential killers

Representing the Governor's Traffic Safety Council four safety engineers are now working out of the Bureau of Highway Safety to advise local authorities, civic groups and safety councils in the evaluation of local traffic safety problems and to help in the organization of campaigns on the local level to combat traffic accidents

The council, with the cooperation of the bureau is also active in the preparation of pamphlets, bulletins and other written material of an educational nature developed for free distribution to groups interested in joining the fight to save lives and prevent accidents Films on all phases of traffic safety are also available at no cost from a complete library maintained by the Bureau

These are some of the plans underway in state government to make the highways of Pennsylvania safe They are not, however all of the requirements needed to accomplish the job

High on the list—and probably most important—is enforcement of our traffic laws, the subject to be discussed next.

Approximately 75 per cent of the American people cannot see effectively without visual aids.

Lamb Cuts Are Easy to Prepare When Understood

Most people are not too familiar with lamb cuts They usually select chops for broiling, or leg for roasting and other portions for stew They know the difference between rib and loin chops but are not so familiar with those from the shoulder

Food Editors who attended the recent conference in Chicago and saw a whole lamb carcass carved before their eyes feel much better acquainted with this meat

For a roast low temperature baking is recommended The meat should be rubbed with soft or melted butter and with seasoned flour After the meat is browned a chicken broth and wine or wine-vinegar mixture with rosemary is used for basting Thirty-five minutes per pound, at a temperature of 350 degrees through the whole period, is recommended

For a mixed grill loin chops are suggested although the rib chops may be used Shoulder chops are better pan-broiled and should be cooked over a rather low heat during the whole process As they are not so tender as the others I like to cover the skillet after browning has been completed and let them simmer until they are tender by test

MIXED GRILL

Arrange thick lamb loin chops on rack of broiler pan and place 4 inches from flame Broil about 10 minutes Season with crushed herbs and turn chops. Add pork sausage and mushroom caps brushed with melted butter in which several pinches of rosemary have been added Add tomato halves sprinkled with chives Broil 5 minutes. Place bacon strips on top of meat Broil 5 minutes longer

LAMB WITH ROSEMARY

1 med um-sized leg of lamb
Melted butter
Flour
½ teaspoon garlic salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
½ cup chicken broth
½ cup wine vinegar
1 teaspoon rosemary

Rub meat with melted butter and with flour mixed with garlic salt and pepper Place in roaster and brown slowly in moderate oven 350 degrees F about ½ hour Mix Chicken broth wine-vinegar and rosemary, and pour over lamb Continue baking allowing 35 minutes per pound, and baste often with drippings

QUICK MEAL

Braised lamb shoulder chops
Sliced mushrooms (canned)
String beans (frozen) in cream
Avocado salad
Toasted crackers Coffee

ORDER OF PREPARATION

Braise chops cover and simmer, add mushrooms with liquor and continue simmering, cook beans prepare salad dress beans, make coffee, toast crackers

Two Italian Dishes Are Now Popular Here

Chicken cacciatora — every so often there is a request for this recipe Perhaps it is because the title seems a little unusual It means 'hunter's style" How this dish received its name is not known

Perhaps this method of cooking was first used with game Many Italian restaurants here list it on the menu Olive oil is used in its preparation, but in the home kitchen there may be a preference for an oil with a bland flavor

This dish is always highly seasoned with garlic or onion or both, with tomato and usually wine There is always a large amount of sauce and a large casserole indicated for its preparation It is the sauce that gives character to the chicken

Another Italian recipe that seems to be of general interest is that of zabaglione — often featured as a dessert, although it is not unlike a very rich eggnog

YOUR FOOD PROBLEM

By Edith M Barber

CRANBERRIES it seems, come into their own with the chilly weather when they can parade on the table in the comforting form of an old-fashioned steamed pudding Alongside serve hard sauce and a spiced cranberry sauce

—TASTY RECIPES—

CHICKEN CACCIATORA

1 chicken about 3½ pounds cut into serving pieces
¼ cup flour
¼ cup salad or olive oil
1 medium onion chopped
1 medium green pepper chopped
1 clove garlic minced
1¼ teaspoons salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
2 small pieces bay leaf
2 2 cups 1 No 2 can tomatoes
½ cup 8-ounce can tomato sauce
¼ cup dry white wine
2tablespoons cooking oil

Roll pieces of chicken in flour until well coated Fry in hot oil about 3 minutes until chicken is light brown Remove from oil Cook onion green pepper and garlic in hot oil, about 3 minutes Add seasonings tomatoes tomato sauce and wine and blend well Arrange browned chicken in sauce, cover and simmer about 1 hour or until chicken is tender Add cut parsley during last few minutes of cooking Yield 4 to 6 servings

ZABAGLIONE

4 eggs
2 tablespoons sugar
½ cup Marsala or sherry

Beat egg yolks well 4 to 5 minutes by hand 1 to 2 minutes by electric beater Add sugar and stir until dissolved Add wine and put in upper part of double boiler Cook over hot water, stirring constantly When mixture begins to stick to sides of pan, remove from heat scrape all loose and beat well for 1 minute over the hot water

Note. This may be served in a small goblet or large wine glass with a spoon and with ladyfingers which may be dipped into it

Cranberry Pudding Has Holiday Season Appeal

Cranberries seem to be especially designed for sauce or jelly almost always served with that other great American product — turkey. Only comparatively recently have we learned to use these berries for other purposes

Edith Barber

The prepared juice in canned form is a popular appetizer, and there are a number of flavorful desserts in which the tang of berries is an asset One of my favorites is a pudding prepared with tapioca which actually has a glamorous appearance with its bright red color contrasting with the whipped cream garnish.

Another interesting recipe is one for a steamed pudding that originated in Wisconsin where the cranberry crop is native — as it is to Cape Cod and New Jersey This is a favorite pudding during the fall and winter with the Tuttle family and it is made according to the original old-fashioned method As you will note, the soda is dissolved in hot water Don't be tempted to mix it with the flour, as the results will not be the same

Steamed puddings seem to belong on the menu when the weather is chilly and — as a famous gourmet pronounced — the dessert will be comforting to the stomach

CRANBERRY PUDDING —
by Celia Tuttle

1 cup halved cranberries
1 1-3 cup flour
2 teaspoons baking soda
1-3 cup hot water
½ cup molasses

Mix cranberries and flour Dissolve soda in hot water. Add to molasses and stir into cranberry-flour mixture Pour into 1-quart mold, or into 4 to 6 small molds Place on rack in steamer, and cover Steam large pudding 1½ hours and small molds 1 hour Serve hot with hard sauce spiced cranberry sauce, or with Celia Tuttle's own favorite

CELIA TUTTLE'S SPECIAL SAUCE

1 cup heavy cream
½ cup butter
1 cup sugar

Mix cream, butter and sugar Stir over low heat until sugar is dissolved and mixture just comes to a boil Remove from heat at once

Spice Dinner Features New Chicken Dish

Each year Food Editors look forward to the annual dinner of the American Spice Trade Association which this year was held at New York's Ambassador Hotel As always, unusual and interesting food was offered

The theme changes annually but is always supplied by a country which furnishes spices This year Jamaica — that West Indian island — was honored Decorations entertainment and the food itself were true to type No country in these days is limited in its use of spices although naturally those native to the district are used most

The executive secretary of the American Spice Trade Association Stewart P Wands, analyzed the changes and trends in the seasoning field In the beginning of this century the demand for spices decreased but in the last 20 years there has been a constant increase especially since the close of World War II

The main item at the Spice Dinner was arroz con pollo Jamaican style This chicken dish is a specialty in all the Latin American countries, but no two recipes are exactly alike In practically all of them, a large 'fricassee" chicken is the basis A very good arroz con pollo can be made with smaller, more tender chicken which will need a much shorter cooking

ARROZ CON POLLO, JAMAICAN STYLE

5 to 6 pound fricassee chicken
6 cups water
1 tablespoon salt
½ teaspoon whole black peppercorns
¼ teaspoon whole allspice
1 bay leaf
1 large onion, quartered
2 ribs celery, cut
1½ cups rice
Chicken egg gravy

Cut chicken into serving-size pieces Place in large saucepan with water, salt, spices, onion and celery Cover and cook until very tender. Remove chicken from stock and keep in warm place Cook rice, covered, in 3 cups chicken stock until tender Make gravy from remaining chicken stock Serve chicken on bed of cooked rice with chicken-egg gravy Yield 6 servings

Snails can go without food for four months by living on reserves in their tissues

2 Card of Thanks

VIOLA — We wish to thank the many thoughtful friends and neighbors who extended us kindness in our recent bereavement, the death of Mrs. Nunziata (Nancy) Viola. The ministrations of the Rev. Lew Johnson, floral tributes, expressions of sympathy, spiritual comfort, cars loaned for the funeral, and the aid of the pall bearers; as well as all those who assisted at the funeral will be remembered with gratitude.
Paul Viola and Children.

3 Memorials

In loving memory of our dear mother and grandmother, Mrs. Barbara Berich, who passed away 22 years ago, October 29, 1935
Twenty-two years have passed since that sad day,
When the one we loved was called away.
We are thinking of you today Mom.
Thinking of you and the past.
Picturing you in our memories,
Just as we saw you last,
We do not need a special day,
To bring you to our mind,
The days we do not think of you
Are very hard to find.
If all the world, was ours to give,
We would give it, yes and more,
To see the face of you Mom,
Come smiling through our door.
God, please forgive a silent tear,
A silent wish that Mom was here.
Sadly and lovingly missed by daughters, Mrs. Katherine Miketich, Mrs. Anna Miller and Grandchildren

In loving memory of our dear husband, father, brother and grandfather, Theodore J. Carlson, who died one year ago today, October 31, 1956.
We lost a dad with a heart of gold
Who is more to us than wealth untold.
Without farewell he fell asleep
With only memories for us to keep.
We have lost but God has gained
One of the best fathers the world contained.
As we loved him, so we miss him,
In our hearts he is ever near.
Loved, remembered, longed for always
Bringing many a silent tear.
Sadly missed by Wife, Sons, Daughters, Brothers and Grandchildren

Ohio Oil Boom
Under Way

Elgin J. Brandes this week reported the completion of his fourth successful Oil and Gas Well in a row in Eastern Ohio. All four Wells were completed by Hydrafrac, the new method which has been used in drilling over 1,000 new producing Oil and Gas Wells in Ohio during the past two years. The Hydrafrac score for Ohio's Clinton Sand field is phenomenal — 8 producers out of each 10 wells drilled.

Brandes' group holds 35,000 acres under lease, including 15,000 acres in the area of the big Benedum Oil Well reported in the Oct. 7th issue of Time magazine as a 6,720 bbl. gusher. Brandes has seven more wells scheduled for drilling this year. Residents of Pennsylvania can buy interest in one well or several wells. Your investment is 100 per cent deductible for tax purposes — also 27½ per cent of profits are tax free. For complete details write to Robert Hollick, P. O. Box 416, Roscoe, Pa.

Westinghouse in All-time High Sales Report

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Westinghouse Electric Corp. announced today net income of $49,102,000 for the first nine months of 1957.

Sales set an all-time high for the period, totaling $1,477,273,000, an increase of 22 per cent over the previous record set in 1954.

The directors declared a dividend of 50 cents a share on common stock and 95 cents a share on preferred stock, both payable Dec. 2 to stockholders of record Nov. 8.

The firm said net income for the third quarter was $18,487,000, equal to $1.07 a share on common stock, compared to a second-quarter income of $16,417,000, equal to 95 cents a share.

Gwilym A. Price, chairman and president of Westinghouse, said a continuing high volume of shipments is expected in the fourth quarter since backlogs of unfilled orders remain at high levels, even though record sales are being billed this year.

More Experiments Are Waged in Cancer Fight

By DELOS SMITH

NEW YORK (UP)—Because irradiation is the cleanest and fastest way of dealing with cancer cells, there is a very practical interest in experiments designed to find out why it is that irradiation doesn't cure more human cancers than it does.

These experiments were in the category of "basic science," in this case, the basic natures of cancer cells. They indicated strongly (but not positively, of course) that a particular experimental cancer does not contain individual cells which are naturally "resistant" to irradiation.

Thus, by the process of elimination, you are justified in reasoning that the phenomenon of "resistance" (which prevents irradiation from being a sure-fire weapon against cancer,) has to be due to two other possibilities. Either irradiation "mutates" few cells in the millions of a cancerous colony into "resistant" cells or irradiation so changes the chemistry of the body containing the cancer that individual cells are made "resistant."

Must Perfect Weapons

As "basic" knowledge this result of the experiments could be most helpful. No one should permit himself to think something big is about to be done about curing cancer. But you are justified if you keep in mind that all weapons have to be perfected — and irradiation as a weapon against all kinds of cancer often works but is a long way from perfection.

The experiments were performed by Drs. Alan D. Conger and Helen J. Luippold in the Oak Ridge (Tenn.) National Laboratory. They experimented with the Ehrlich tumor which is an experimental cancer of mice that can be readily transplanted from mouse to mouse and almost always "takes." It is one of the best known of "laboratory" tumors.

The tumorous mice were kept in the irradiation beam of radioactive cobalt-60 giving off gamma rays, for 23 hours a day over a period of weeks. The total daily doses were relatively low—by design the Ehrlich tumor is highly "sensitive" to irradiation.

Permit Cell Takeover

The experimental design was to permit naturally "resistant" cells to take over — if they existed in the cancerous conglomeration. Every experimental detail was aimed at "maximizing" this take-over. If it had happened, all the naturally "sensitive" cells would have been killed by irradiation prolonged over weeks the pre-existing "resistant" cells would have multiplied in the usual way and eventually the entire cancerous formation would have been "resistant."

But it didn't happen, and though the cancerous formations were slowed down in their growths they were not stopped. Therefore, (and presumably,) something other than "natural" resistance of some cancer cells to irradiation was preventing irradiation from eliminating the cancers.

In their report to the technical journal, "Cancer Research," the scientists made preliminary efforts to fit their new tile into the mosaic of existing knowledge, but were chiefly interested in giving their colleagues everywhere a chance to work at fitting it in. This new tile may—some day and somehow—complete a meaningful, useful picture.

State Political Party Chairmen In Job Hassle

HARRISBURG (UP)—The chairmen of both major political parties in Pennsylvania stayed on the sidelines today during a verbal dispute over who wants their respective jobs.

State Sen. M. Harvey Taylor (R-Dauphin), Senate president pro temp, said Monday Commonwealth Secretary James A. Finnegan appears to be seeking the job held by Democratic State Chairman Joseph M. Barr.

Taylor, former Republican state chairman, said he based his belief on Finnegan's recent defense of the Democratic state administration after it was criticized by ranking Republicans on its highways program.

But late Tuesday Finnegan termed Taylor's statement "hilarious" and counter-punched with the contention that Taylor was after the job of Republican State Chairman George I. Bloom.

Finnegan said "Taylor has never ceased plotting to take over the reins of the Republican Party since George Bloom and the state committee ousted him."

One pair of horseflies and their progeny, if all survived, could produce 191 quintillion flies in a season.

Drugs and Treatments Are New

By H. N. BUNDENSEN, M.D.

Two new drugs for treating rheumatoid arthritis and gout, a steroid for relieving itching and burning eyes, and a method of improving eyesight by use of electric current are the medical advances I'd like to discuss today in our monthly review of what's new in medicine.

The arthritis drugs are chloroquine and colcemide.

Chloroquine is reported to be good for long-term and safe control of certain cases of crippling rheumatoid arthritis.

pain, it appears to inactivate the evidence of any anti-inflammatory effect on joint swelling and pain, it appears to inactivate the disease process in the body as a whole.

Colcemide is a modern, streamlined version of the 3,457-year-old drug, colchicine.

Both drugs are extracted from a particular variety of European and Asiatic crocus that blooms in the autumn.

Colcemide is reported to be highly effective in suppressing painful and distressing arthritic symptoms that accompany acute gouty attacks.

The new eye preparation is Metreton Ophthalmic Suspension a steroid-antihistimine, which can be used for a wide variety of resistant allergic eye conditions.

It is reported to be especially helpful when the eyes are bothered with reactions from hay fever or asthma. Investigators say it gives prompt relief from itching, tearing and burning.

Application of mild electric current to the temples is said by two Maryland doctors to have improved vision greatly in 10 persons with varying degrees of visual loss.

In the case studied the impaired vision apparently was due to vascular problems. The investigators reported the patients improved with the treatment "probably because of improved nutrition to the visual apparatus as a consequence of improved circulation."

It is nice for the public to know about the new advances in medicine, but it is also equally important to understand that medicines should always be taken under the advice of the doctor.

Question and Answer

T. W.: I have a cousin who suffers from hookworm disease. Can you tell me something about it?

Answer: Hookworm mainly affects people in the tropical and southern temperate zones.

The symptoms are laziness, weakness, loss of physical and mental ability, loss of weight and anemia.

The cure consists of the use of thymol or carbon tetrachloride, but always under the doctor's supervision.

George Gobel Reports Thoughts on Sputnik

(Vernon Scott is on vacation. Today's guest columnist is "Lonesome George" Gobel who has some thoughts on Sputnik and the common man.)

By GEORGE GOBEL

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — Ever since the Russian scientists launched their cosmic coconut into outer space, the common man has been aroused. I for one have been shaken out of my lethargy, but in my case this isn't too surprising 'cause my lethargy never fit too good in the first place . . . kept creeping up in the seat . . .

But what I'm trying to say is, the satellite has presented many new problems to the world. Naturally, the first question which comes to mind is, "What is the satellite?"

Rubber Band

Well, I'll tell you. It's a twenty-three inch aluminum sphere, weighing a hundred and eighty-four pounds and it's held together by a very strong rubber band . . .

Now what this thing does is, it sends messages which we've been picking up. Now these messages are a series of beeps which grow in volume and at times turn into long, piercing squeals.

If you'd like to hear this same beeping, piercing squeal, just try saying to your wife, "Honey — you're getting fat." When she starts circling and beeping off you might as well just sit tight till her speaker tube blows out . . .

But in the case of the satellite, these beeps are significant. It means that sooner or later it's got to come down, 'cause anything that beeps that much has got to be burped . . .

Slows Over YWCA

But now, let me familiarize you with some pertinent facts concerning the satellite's movements. Like it's been known to slow way down while passing over the sun roof of the YWCA, and conversely, to speed way up when passing over the stockyards of Chicago . . . that's due to the fact that the satellite is accompanied by a very sensitive nose cone.

And just last Saturday night the satellite was reported flying very low over Sherman Oaks, Calif. This, however, was an erroneous report. It was just my brother-in-law coming home late from a luau.

Unfortunately, that's all the space we have for now, this is your old friend, Lonesome George, leaving you with this thought. If you're planning a vacation to the moon, heed this one note of caution. That's a 14-year trip, so don't forget to leave a note for the milkman . . . so long, neighbors.

Well, That's That!

LOS ANGELES (UP)— The age-old problem of how to keep vitamins from being lost during the milling of rice was reported solved today. The answer — shoot them into the kernels. A process through which steam pressure is used to drive vitamins and minerals inside the kernels of rice from the outer bran layer was announced by Comet Rice Mills.

World of TV—

New Show Bows in On Sunday

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK (UP) — "Seven Lively Arts," a show with a high forehead and a high budget, bows in on CBS-TV this Sunday.

But don't run away. For as La Rochefoucauld once said — "Culture, schmulture. Who needs it? This is going to be entertainment."

"Egghead? I don't even know the meaning of the word," bristles John Houseman with a fierce bristle. Houseman is executive producer of "Seven Lively Arts" and, as such, is charged with the task of lining up 14 one - hour shows. Thus far, the show is sponsorless, but Houseman has $100,000 per show to work with.

Just Have Fun

"I'm afraid it may sound affected and silly," continues Houseman, "but all we hope to do on this show is have fun. We're not esoteric, highbrow or flouncy and we want to put on shows about things that interest people.

"Now, you take our first show, 'The Changing Ways of Love.' I believe the show will contain more suggestions of sex than have ever been seen on the air before. And I'm sure you'll agree that sex is not of limited interest."

Houseman is a large man with a large background. On Broadway, he has capered with such diverse companions as Shakespeare, Ibsen and Orson Welles. In Hollywood, he produced 14 movies, including "Julius Caesar" and "Lust For Life." He has served as an English and drama prof at Vassar and UCLA.

For the past two summers, Houseman has labored as artistic director of the American Shakespeare Festival and Academy at Stratford, Conn.

"The taste of the American people is higher than is generally assumed," says Houseman. "You can take our Shakespeare operation at Stratford as a good example—we had marvelously successful runs.

Emphasis On 'Lively'

"There's no reason really why we shouldn't attract a good audience here, too. The emphasis of this TV program is going to be on the 'lively' part of the title—we've got one show planned around some Hemingway short stories, one show will be devoted to jazz, another to the 'Nutcracker' ballet, others to revivalism, Hollywood and New York."

Also on Houseman's calendar: a show based on two Ray Bradbury stories set in 2,000 a.d., an Easter Miracle play, a piece based on John Brown, an Agnes DeMille dance show, a movie about Martha Graham, a show about jazz pianist Jelly Roll Morton and another about American composer Norman Dello Joio.

The only unfortunate thing about Houseman's TV show is that it will overlap NBC-TV's "Omnibus" in its Sunday time slot.

"I don't approve of a cultural contest between 'Omnibus' and us,' mourns Houseman, "but there is nothing I can do about it. I do feel sorry though that I won't get to see 'Omnibus' myself anymore."

There are about 15 million more motor vehicles on American highways than just before World War II. Seventy out of every 100 persons driving cars have bought them within the past two years.

CSTC Professor to Head Teachers Group

Anthony T Stavaski, associate professor of industrial arts at California State Teachers College, today was elected president of the Pennsylvania Industrial Arts Association.

More than 500 industrial arts teachers took part in the balloting at the fifth annual convention of the Association in Harrisburg.

Selected to serve with Stavaski were Cel Aman, supervisor of the division of vocational and secondary industrial arts for Philadelphia, as vice-president and Program Chairman; Marh Muth, of West Chester as secretary, and Charles E. Williams, industrial arts instructor of Springdale as treasurer.

Stavaski is a graduate of the State Normal School in Fitchburg, Mass, and received his master's degree from the University of Pittsburgh He taught industrial arts in Littleton, South Deerfield, and Greenfield in Massachusetts before joining the staff of the California State Teachers College in 1935 as instructor of graphic arts

Epsilon Pi Tau, international honor fraternity in industrial arts, awarded Stavaski a laureate citation for his contributions to industrial arts in the state of Massachusetts.

The new president has achieved national renown in the area of graphic arts instruction. He has also been active in the work of the American Industrial Arts Association and formerly served that organization as editor of their official publication, The Industrial Arts Teacher.

In addition to his professional work, Stavaski has been active in Lions Club in Western Pennsylvania.

Lively Burgess Race To Feature Election Day in West Newton

A lively race for burgess will feature next Tuesday's general election in West Newton

Political observers predict a close race between Republican R C. Umbarger and Democrat Paul Suchko.

Umbarger easily won the GOP nomination in last May's primary. On the other hand, Suchko nosed out J. L Welsch by a single vote to win the Democratic nod

Since Umbarger also polled 205 Democratic write-in votes, he is regarded as a slight favorite by many political observers

West Newton voters will also elect a tax collector, two school directors, an auditor and a total of five councilmen in three different wards.

J F Lasch has already won both the Democratic and Republican nominations for school director. He will be joined on the Democratic ticket by J. Schiftic and on the Republican side by Earl Albig Jr

The tax collector race is between Jane Sykes Farrell, Democrat, and Sara Ross, Republican Curt Fowler has already won both nominations for auditor.

Two councilmen will be elected in the first ward E H Rouse and R. W Mains are the Democratic candidates; W. Cumpson and V. Weisgerber, the Republican candidates.

In the second ward, J Lowanse has already won the nomination of both parties

In the third ward councilmanic contest, Matthew Everly has won both party nominations to practically assure one of the two positions to be decided Republican Jean Abbott and Democrat Victor Leap are competing for the other

State Agency Merger Program Plans Outlined

HARRISBURG (UP)—The special committee to advise the administration on the merger of the Public Assistance and Welfare Departments into one state agency has tentatively set up a two-stage program to carry out the jointure

The 26-member committee, at its organizational meeting Tuesday, concluded the first job would be to submit a report to Gov George M. Leader by Feb 1 with recommendations for creation of the Public Welfare Department on July 1. The second phase counts on drafting additional legislation for consideration by the 1959 Legislature to carry out the merger down to county and community level of services.

The group also advised its two chairmen, Thomas B. Harvey and Dr. Stephen B. Sweeney, both of Philadelphia, to select an administrative secretary and name a steering body. The next meeting was set for Dec 3.

Earlier, Gov. Leader told the committee it should concentrate on the broad aspects of the merger and leave the administrative details to the administration. Ruth G. Horting, Public Assistance Secretary and Welfare Secretary Harry Shapiro both spoke in favor of the jointure and made recommendations to the committee.

Public Hearings Are Planned for Minimum Wages

HARRISBURG (UP)—At least three public hearings will be held next month by a new board created to recommend minimum wages for women and children working in hotels and restaurants

Pittsburgh attorney Frederic G Weir, chairman of the Restaurant, Hotel and Motel Minimum Wage Board, said the hearings will be held Nov. 18 in Allentown; Nov. 19 in Philadelphia, and Nov 22 in Pittsburgh, with other hearings to be held if warranted.

William L Batt Jr., secretary of the state Labor and Industry Department, told the board at its initial meeting here Tuesday a survey showed that wages being paid to women and children workers in the hotels and restaurants were generally below those "necessary for the sound health and normal well-being of such workers."
